SET NEW SOIL CONSERVATION SCALE OF PAY

BERKELEY, Calif., June 16.—(UP)—The agricultural adjustment administration today announced rates of soil conservation payment for California.

Officials said the rates, which range from $7.70 per acre in Placer county to $16.90 in Humboldt county, may vary considerably in application to individual farms, depending on productivity.

The rates are for soil-conserving (class 1) payments farmers will receive for acreage diverted from soil-depleting crops to soil-conserving crops or other soil-conserving uses.

The regional office explained that the maximum acreage upon which farmers can receive the class 1 payments is limited to 15 per cent of their general soil-depleting base acreages or to the acreage diverted, if that is less than 15 per cent.

The payments are distinct from the recently-announced class 2 payments, which are made only for the adoption of specific soil-building practices, and from the rates set for diverting special soil-depleting crops, such as rice and cotton.

It is possible, however, for a farmer to secure both class 1 and class 2 payments on the same land by diverting land from soil-depleting uses to soil-conserving uses and then putting definite soil-building practices into effect.

The class 1 rates were worked out by the AAA on the basis of yields of the principal soil-depleting crops in each county in the 10-year period from 1923 to 1932, inclusive, as determined by available statistics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The soil-conserving (Class 1) rates which have been established for each county in California include:

| County | Rate |
|-----------------|-------|
| Fresno | 12.40 |
| Imperial | 13.80 |
| Inyo | 11.10 |
| Kern | 13.20 |
| Los Angeles | 14.30 |
| Orange | 11.60 |
| Riverside | 10.30 |
| Santa Barbara | 8.40 |
| San Diego | 9.10 |
| San Luis Obispo | 9.80 |
| Santa Clara | 13.50 |

REPUBLICAN BATTLE PLANS SHAPED AT TOPEKA PARLEY

TOPEKA, Kans., June 16.—(UP)—Republican battle plans took shape here today when Gov. Alf M. Landon, the presidential candidate, Col. Frank Knox, his running mate, and their strategy board gathered for their first war council.

From the meeting will come plans for the official notification, the inauguration of Landon's oratorical onslaught on the New Deal, and the general lines along which the scrimmages will be fought.

Leading the conference for his chief will be John D. M. Hamilton, new chairman of the national committee and the man who piloted the Landon nomination. Hamilton returned yesterday to receive a rousing greeting from

Predict County Citrus Strike Near End

PICKERS ARE GOING BACK TO ORCHARDS

School Boys Who Answered Call for Workers Are Assured of Jobs

FROM all sections of Orange county, reports from peace officers, packing house officials and some of the pickers show the citrus pickers strike is "on the mend" and probably will end within two days.

On the other hand, representatives of Lucas Lucia, vice consul here, who is serving as advisor to the Mexicans, declared they "could see no end to the strike at all." Ludo was out among the Mexican settlements today and offered no official statement from the pickers' standpoint.

Both Sheriff Logan Jackson and Capt. H. C. Meehan of the California Highway patrol unit here declared their men found striking pickers returning to work. In the district west of 101 highway, where Captain Meehan's men are stationed principally, estimates show 50 per cent of the men have returned to the orchards to pick fruit. Many of these said they "wanted to return yesterday" but feared the threats of agitators who told them "we will burn your houses and beat you up if you work," according to reports filed by special and regular officers on duty throughout the county.

Assured Protection

Today, some of those Mexicans who returned to work said they did so because of protection offered them by law enforcement agencies which they had confidence in.

ZIONCHECK ISSUES EDICTS FROM WINDOW OF HOSPITAL THEN RETURNS TO HIS BED

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(UP)—Rep. Marion A. Zioncheck gave attaches the slip today and appeared unexpectedly in the corridor of Gallinger hospital to "tell my side of this case."

His dramatic appearance came while hospital officials were attempting to decide what to do with the playboy congressman who was confined for mental examination after a series of startling escapades.

Running up to newspapermen, Zioncheck gave an "explanation" of the sudden switch in plans yesterday when hospital attaches were ready to take him from the building, then suddenly changed their minds and retained him.

He explained that congressional leaders had asked him to go to the Sheppard & Enoch Pratt sanitarium in Baltimore for treatment.

"Changed My Mind"

"I agreed to go yesterday," he said, "but changed my mind when I found they intended to send four burly guards with me. I don't intend to be trundled about the country by guards."

Zioncheck then listed four "demands" or "ultimatums," of which he said hospital officials could take their choice. They were:

1. That he be released outright.
2. That he be sent to St. Elizabeth's hospital here for further mental examination and treatment.
3. That he be "tried" by a jury in District of Columbia supreme court.
4. Or, that five of the "best psychiatrists in the country" be summoned to Washington to examine him.

Balks Hospital Officials

Zioncheck's sudden demands apparently caused another impasse in attempts to decide disposition of his case. Dr. Edgar Boeckel, superintendent of Gallinger hospital, stated that he would not permit Zioncheck to be released "without medical attendants remaining with him."

Zioncheck was taken back to his room on an upper floor of the hospital, and officials held another conference to decide his fate.

In his impromptu appearance, Zioncheck wore white pajamas furnished by the hospital. He leaned out of a ground floor window of the building, and talked to reporters in the rotunda below.

He said he "suspected that the White House was mixed up in this idea of sending me around the country with four big guards."

"If that's true," he said, "then this country is getting worse than Russia."

Dr. Joseph Gilbert, District of Columbia alienist who has been examining Zioncheck for two weeks, said he believed the congressman should be taken to another institution for further examination.

Balks Committee

The session revolved into a neat sparring match with Werner balking the committee at every turn. He doggedly refused to read a section of the law defining wines, or a section of his contract which gave him a legal fee of 50 cents on every case of "Kick Highballs" sold under the 2-cent-a-gallon tax.

Furious Beast Keeps Other Zoo Attendants From Retrieving Body

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—(UP)—Maddened by the unseasonable heat, a bull elephant literally tore his keeper apart at the Fleishacker zoo today.

The keeper, Ed Brown, 47, was killed before he could be rescued by other attendants.

A score of men, attracted by the screams of Brown and the wild trumpeting of the bull elephant, rushed to the scene but they were too late to save the keeper.

Other zoo attendants were unable immediately to retrieve the mutilated body of the victim as the maddened beast threatened them and made several breaks in their direction.

Order Zoo Cleared

The zoo was cleared immediately of all spectators and the entrances barred. Daring zoo employees then succeeded in entangling the enraged elephant, Wally, in chains and brought him under control. Whether the elephant will be executed as a "killer" was not decided.

Park attendants said a major disaster probably was averted in that the other elephants remained quiet during the excitement and showed comparative little interest in Wally's rampage.

Despite this attitude, however, keepers kept close watch on the herd of elephants and made them keep their distance with sharp-pronged pitchforks. Others stood nearby armed with high-powered rifles and were prepared to slaughter the entire herd if they stampeded and endangered persons outside the paddock.

Send for Tear Gas

Meanwhile, experienced elephant keepers, realizing that often times elephants will become restless hours after the cause of the excitement has died down, sent for a supply of tear gas bombs. They are prepared, for perhaps the first time in history, to attempt to quiet their huge charges through tears.

Fellow workers of Brown said he went into the paddock to lead Wally from one part to another when the huge elephant suddenly and without warning, battered him with his trunk and then trampled the lifeless body. Other elephants, which attempted to reach the body with their trunks were kept at bay.

Even after his victim was dead, keepers said Wally did not let up on his attack. He seized the body in his trunk, lashed about with him and tossed him to the ground repeatedly.

Brown had been a keeper at the zoo several years ago. It was learned, and reported here only two months ago after having left the work as "too dangerous."

Other keepers said he was efficient in his work and they did not know of any instance when he invoked the enmity of any of the elephants who were in his charge.

Wally, the killer elephant, was 26 years old and had spent many years in captivity. He had shown no previous display of temper.

WARNING

James E. Van Zandt, national commander of V.F.W., warns against economy bills aimed at veterans in speech at organization's state convention in San Bernardino.

V. F. W. LEADER URGES PENSION AT STATE MEET

SAN BERNARDINO, June 15.—(UP)—A warning against economy bills aimed at veterans was voiced by James E. Van Zandt, national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, as he opened here last night, the state convention of the organization's state convention here last night.

Gov. Frank F. Merriam was to be the principal speaker today at the joint session of the state veterans' organization and its women's auxiliary.

Van Zandt said veterans were not receiving the financial benefits to which they are entitled and demanded that the federal government make plans for a general pension system.

He also denounced the economy league which he said was trying to make war veterans appear ridiculous by sponsoring organizations like "the Veterans of Future Wars."

Van Zandt said President Roosevelt would be re-elected this November, he concluded his address with a demand that all radicals be deported.

Board Calls Election On School Bond

Issue Will Save Taxpayers Total of $143,179 in Interest Charges

DESIGNED to save taxpayers of Santa Ana school district a sum now estimated at $143,179 in interest charges, a $612,000 bond issue, to replace the present $612,000 Greene Bill loan, will be submitted to the voters August 4, it was decided by the board of education last night.

At the same time the board took tentative action toward sale of the remaining $83,000 of the $223,000 high school bond issue voted last fall, to provide for the two last units of the high school group, bids upon which will be opened tomorrow.

The board passed a resolution calling for the new bond election for the August date, as the culmination of a plan to replace the present indebtedness with a new issue bearing a far smaller rate of interest.

Refinance Bond Debt

Action was taken, it was pointed out, in order to take advantage of the present favorable bond market, while the opportunity is available, and "refinance" at a saving of probably 2 per cent annually over the remaining 18-year period of the Greene Bill loan.

School Auditor Harold Yost submitted a statement to the board last night showing an estimated saving of $143,179, should the proposed bond issue be refunded in the same manner as the Greene Bill loan.

The Greene Bill loan, which was obtained from the state to rebuild school buildings damaged by the 1933 earthquake, bears 4 1/2 per cent

SCHEDULE TO START WITH FISCAL YEAR

Teachers, Municipal Workers to Receive Increase of $35,000 Per Year

MEETING last night at their respective headquarters, the city council and board of education voted pay increases to employees in the total amount of $35,000 per year. Council's adoption of a resolution arranging the salary schedule for the fiscal year beginning July 1, granted appointive city employees $12,000 per year, while teachers will benefit by the board of education's action in the amount of $23,000 yearly.

Salary increases to a total of $12,000 annually were granted to appointive city employees last night as city council adopted a resolution in arranging the salary schedule for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1936 and ending June 30, 1937.

All of the principal departments, including police and fire, were affected by the change in schedule, which also set salary figures for employees who are on the city payroll only intermittently, such as special carpenters, special truck drivers, special compressor operators, and the like. No elective officers are affected in the arrangement.

Pay Schedules

Here is the schedule as it becomes effective July 1: Clerk's department—chief deputy, $10 raise per month, to $120; deputy, $5 raise to $105; two license inspectors, $120 to $125; City Attorney, secretary, $75 to $85; City Judge, clerk, $100 to $105; Auditing department—auditor, $225 to $230; assistant auditor, $115 to $125; a new cost accountant, $125.

Building inspector, $150 to $160; electrical inspector, $140 to $150; plumbing inspector, $140 to $150; clerk, $90 to $105; Janitor, $100 to $125; P.M. operator, $90 to $105.

Police, Fire Department

The police department officers, including assistant chief, captains, sergeants, lieutenants and patrolmen received $5 per month increase.

EX-WIVES OF VETS DEMAND BONUS CUT

LOS ANGELES, June 16.—(UP)—Ex-wives of World War veterans descended upon the local courts today with demands for a full "cut" on the bonus melon.

Nine former wives filed petitions for payment of back alimony from husbands who received bonus bonds. The wives also sought injunctions to retain their former husbands from spending the money.

The first ex-soldier to feel the sting of alimony laws was Donald Sheef, film studio employee, who was sentenced to two days in jail for contempt of court. His former wife, Mary, who cited him, accused him of being $400 in arrears.

Dr. Joseph Gilbert, District of Columbia alienist who has been examining Zioncheck for two weeks, said he believed the congressman should be taken to another institution for further examination.

CHARGE POST OFFICE CAMPAIGN MACHINE

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(UP)—Charges that "the entire postal service" is being mobilized as a New Deal campaign machine were made in a statement today by Rep. Charles A. Halleck, R., Ind., of the house civil service committee.

WERNER DEFIES GRAFT PROBES, KEEPS SILENT

LOS ANGELES, June 16.—(UP)—L. Erwin (Date) Werner, whose wife, "Queen Helen," allegedly wielded mighty influence in the administration of Southern California liquor affairs, folded his arms before the Donihue assembly liquor investigating committee today and coolly defied it to force his answer to questions involving the part he played in obtaining a low state tax for "tailor-made cocktails."

The chunky former Los Angeles city attorney took refuge in the legal privilege of lawyer-client relations and refused to answer questions considered pertinent in the examination of a Hollywood liquor firm, whom he represented as counsel.

Balks Committee

The session revolved into a neat sparring match with Werner balking the committee at every turn. He doggedly refused to read a section of the law defining wines, or a section of his contract which gave him a legal fee of 50 cents on every case of "Kick Highballs" sold under the 2-cent-a-gallon tax.

SOLDIERS REPLACE BELGIAN STRIKERS

BRUSSELS, June 16.—(UP)—Troops were summoned to duty to assure maintenance of essential public services today as striking Belgian workers increased to 220,000.

As soon as electrical supply workers walked out in Brussels, soldiers took their places. Meanwhile public service employees went on strike in Liege and Herstal. Dock workers in Ghent decided to walk out tonight, following the example of harbor workers at Antwerp.

Premier Paul Van Zeeland's new government ordered drastic precautions to prevent violence by workers striking for wages and working hours concessions similar to those won in the just-ended great French walkout.

Townsendites Lose In Maine Battle

AUGUSTA, Me., June 16.—(UP)—Secretary of State Lewis O. Barrows won the Republican gubernatorial nomination today over Blin W. Page, Skowhegan banker endorsed by the Townsend organization, returns from yesterday's primary showed today.

With only a few scattered precincts missing, Barrows was leading by more than 19,000 votes.

FIVE KILLED IN POWDER EXPLOSION

SOFIA, Bulgaria, June 16.—(UP)—An official investigation today revealed that a lighted cigarette tossed into a barrel of gunpowder yesterday wrecked the Hunters' house, an officers club, killing five men and injuring two others.

A club official, who threw the cigarette while weighing gunpowder, was injured only slightly. He was arrested.

The explosion demolished the facade of the club building, burying a platoon of cadets drilling in the courtyard.

President Signs Commodity Bill

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(UP)—The White House today announced that President Roosevelt has signed the new commodity exchange control bill.

The measure extends to commodity markets, with the exception of cotton, supervision powers exercised over securities exchanges by the securities and exchange commission.

ENGLISH TO OPPOSE ITALIAN SANCTIONS

LONDON, June 16.—(UP)—Amid controversy on the merits of a shift in foreign policy, the cabinet prepared today to face the house of commons Thursday and defend its decision to support abolition of league sanctions against Italy.

The cabinet will meet formally tomorrow to ratify the recommendations of its foreign affairs committee, which last night voted against continuing sanctions.

It will discuss the defense of its new policy to be made by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, who has agreed to house of commons debate on foreign affairs Thursday.

Ammunition Blast Kills 60; 27 Hurt

TALLINN, Estonia, June 16.—(UP)—Rescue workers, endangered by bursting ammunition, had removed 60 dead and 27 injured late today from the ruins of an army laboratory wrecked by an explosion yesterday.

The laboratory, located in a wooded section five miles from Tallinn, was demolished while 180 army reserve officers were attending special instruction classes.

VETERANS TO SPEND BONUS MONEY ON DEBTS, NEW HOMES

WHEN THE Orange county World War veterans were valiant young soldiers they probably spent their paychecks with little concern for the future. And when they received half of their adjusted compensation, perhaps they didn't spend it with the greatest of wisdom and conservatism.

But it's different now. The veterans are middle-aged, most of them with families and responsibilities, and the bonus money they now have will be expended for the things veterans and their families have been planning and dreaming about for many long months. And all of these things are serious, substantial sort of things.

Directly or indirectly, business in Santa Ana and Orange county stands to benefit considerably through the expenditures of more than $2,000,000 in the county. Certain lines of business already have picked up tremendously, and others, when the money gets into the various channels of business, will benefit also.

Pay Old Debts

A check made by The Register today revealed that more of the bonus money will be paid out to clean up old debts in Santa Ana than for any other purpose. This money will circulate freely through every type of business and will benefit the entire community. Manager Phil Brown of the Business Men's Association, said that a large majority of veterans plan to pay off old debts with their bonus money.

SAFE DRIVERS WILL DIAGNOSE DRIVING EVILS

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—(UP)—A clinical diagnosis of driving habits and evils will be made during a two-day convention of the safest drivers from each state, starting in New York, August 31, it was announced today.

A nation-wide motorcade is being organized as part of the five-year, $250,000 safety program sponsored by the Commercial Investment Trust corporation.

Deadline for applications is July 15. Blanks may be obtained from American Automobile association branches, automobile dealers, or offices of the Commercial Investment Trust corporation.

One driver from each state will be selected to drive to New York in easy stages with all expenses paid. There an elaborate course in "safe driving" will be given with the delegates, average drivers, taking part in discussions.

"We hope the national safe driver motorcade will bring a new force into the campaign for safety and we expect the drivers themselves to develop fresh ideas which will be helpful in the general crusade," executives said.

CITY, SCHOOL EMPLOYEES ARE GIVEN RAISE

The fire chief was increased from $200 to $225; all other firemen received a $5 increase.

The city engineer and street superintendent received a $10 raise to $225; the assistant engineer and others of the administration, engineering department, continued at the same rate. With the exception of the maintenance and construction foreman, chief inspector and stockman, who did not receive raises, others of the division obtained raises amounting to about 25 cents per day, or $5 per month. The rate of blacksmiths, $4.80 per day, remained the same, however, reader and troublemaker received $10 raises, the others with exception of office manager whose salary remained the same, $5 raises.

At the plants, plant engineers and meter repairmen were raised $5. The superintendent of parks was increased from $150 to $160. Tree trimmers and laborers were increased approximately $5 per month.

SCHOOL BOARD BOOSTS PAY FOR TEACHERS

School teachers, as well as veterans, were wearing broad smiles today, as the board of education last night voted a $23,000 pay increase for Santa Ana teachers for next term.

The net increase in school payroll, however, amounts to only $15,000 and will not require increase of the tax rate, because of off-sets effected by a reduction of three teachers in the elementary

KEN MURRAY SAYS:

NEW YORK, June 16.—The tumult and the shouting dies, the captain and the kingfisher depart, but Old Man Politics goes right ahead, now that the G. O. P. has chosen London and Knox...

And everybody made the nominations unanimous except of course, the Democratic Party. The various convention speakers were also unanimous in declaring that if the present administration was re-elected, we were digging our own grave. . . . Yes sir! They certainly called a spade a Roosevelt.

While the revitalized party refer to themselves as "Liberal Republicans," I'm afraid the title is going to be empty. . . . By the time the New Dealers are through there won't be anything left to be liberal with.

Of course, the mere fact that Governor Landon is going to conduct a front-porch campaign seems like a tribute to F. D. R. . . .

force, and by replacements of teachers and administrators in the higher brackets. The saving thus made amounted to $8000. The salary increase applies to teachers and administrators who have been in service more than one year.

Action to award the increase was taken on motion of Ridley Smith, after the board had considered a study of the salary situation presented by Superintendent Frank A. Henderson. All board members voted for the increase.

No Tax Increase
Auditor Harold Yost estimated that the $15,000 net increase can be handled without an increase in the tax rate for current operating expenses.

Elementary teachers and junior high school teachers who teach on a junior high school credential, will receive a monthly increase of $7.50. There are 102 teachers who will thus benefit.

Regular secondary teachers, including junior college teachers, will receive an advance of $10 per month. The increase will apply to 109 teachers in this group.

The same increase applies to school nurses and administrators, numbering 81 in all. Special consideration was given to some of the administrators who are obliged to incur large mileage in their work, and to several whose administrative responsibilities are heavy, it was stated.

Partial Restoration
Last night's increase actually is merely a restoration, and only a partial restoration at that, of salary cuts made during the depth of the depression. The present increase still leaves the maximum-salaried elementary teacher $275 below the level of 1932, the secondary teacher $450 below that level, and the junior college maximum-salary more than $500 below the 1932 level.

Salary totals of 1931-32 were $658,907, while for 1935-36 they were $510,250, a reduction of $148,657. The decreases ranged from top to bottom of the school system, the superintendent's salary this year being $5980 as compared to $6600 in 1931-32, while various principals, supervisors, nurses and teachers showed corresponding slashes.

rate the board of equalization had decided was adequate.

"Read it yourself," he snapped sarcastically, his beady black eyes flashing.

Through all his objections, he was backed by his own attorney, Hugo Harris.

His wrath increasing as the session progressed, Werner bitterly accused the committee of "purloining" and "stealing" letters and records from his office.

Evans Denies Charge
"I don't think you could overlook anything because you've had all the letters and contracts since you took them from my office," he retorted to one question.

"I took nothing from your office," replied Assemblyman Ralph W. Evans, committee counsel. "Any papers in our possession were turned over to the committee."

"We're getting along fine," the witness sneered. "I like you much better than I expected to when I read your statements in the newspapers. I don't expect to get on the stump and do any campaigning for office either now or any time in the near future."

The shot was aimed at reports that Evans would campaign for District Attorney Byron Fitts' job this fall.

"I can readily understand that you won't be doing any campaigning now," Evans flared back.

COUNTY CITRUS STRIKE NEARS END IS CLAIM

"There seems to be a prevailing attitude that there has been violence and that the pickers have been jeopardized," Stuart Strathman, packing house representative said today. "The safest place in the county for the pickers is in the orchards at work."

He said 250 school boys in the north end of the county are now working as well as 250 other men and boys from the county are now working and outsiders have been brought in from the Whittier area during the past 24 hours. The packing house officials are bringing in other workers from Pomona, Riverside, Azusa and other valley points to bolster up a hundred or more Filipino and Japanese pickers already on the job.

Jobs Assured
"The school boys have been assured of regular work for the summer," Strathman declared. "The strikers who wish to return to work will get the jobs which are still left open. The apparent let-up in activities is not due to any compromise or agreements entered into by the packing houses and pickers but because, we feel, the arrests of alleged agitators has taken away the fright of some of the pickers."

Lucio said yesterday that the chief complaint of the Mexican pickers on strike is not because of wages but because the bonus plan and the transportation plan which has been "made a racket" by the pickers' foremen. He asked that the packing house men assist in eliminating the "racketeers."

Yesterday's arrests of two women in Anaheim and five men in Brea on various charges, including traffic violations, trespassing, disturbing the peace and vagrancy left the county quiet this morning, according to Sheriff Jackson, who reviewed the situation before the board of supervisors this morning.

Two Jailed
Ralph Jaime, 21, El Modena, said to be connected with a pickers' union, who was reported by Chief John Stanton of Tustin as driving around in his car, urging pickers to go home, was arrested by Deputy Sheriff James Ragan and booked at county jail for reckless driving.

Judge A. W. Swayze of Orange set $100 bail. Frank Medina, 26, 901 Logan street, Santa Ana, a musician on parole from San Quentin, was arrested by Deputy Steve Duhart last night and jailed for parole violation. Reports to the sheriff said he was "interested" in the strike activities. He was held for action of Deputy Parole Officer J. E. Lewis.

"There has absolutely been no violence or property damage in the incorporated area of the county," the sheriff said, and we now have the district well-organized and patrolled. The only violence occurred yesterday as a Mexican woman from Anaheim bit Officer Sherman of the Anaheim department and was arrested, with another woman, for disturbing the peace."

Pickers Return
Clarence Skiles, Orange County Fruit Exchange, reported he had sufficient pickers on the job to meet all pre-rate shipments, while Strathman said throughout the south part of the county, and in Anaheim, the striking pickers were returning to their jobs. Deputy Ezra Stanley said pickers at El Modena were going back gradually, and a full crew was reported at La Paloma, where few worked yesterday. "There is a feeling throughout Atwood and La Jolla camp, Corona camp and Alta Vista that the regular pickers wish to go back to work," Deputy Steve Duhart said in his official report.

Officials of Garden Grove Citrus association reported a man named Lusario and his wife agitated among the pickers. "We have word that pickers leaving from Seventeenth and Verano streets, for work tomorrow morning, will be molested," the report, which asked the sheriff's assistance, declared. Officers will be ready to "meet any trouble," the sheriff promised.

Fewer Women Pickers
A total of 200 or more women who patrolled the county yesterday were greatly reduced in number today. However, four or five were questioned at the sheriff's office this morning and released. They told officers they "wanted to help their men." Scattered groups of men and women riding about in cars, were still urging pickers to quit, reports from several sources revealed. Mrs. Kline of Corona camp asked assistance "because a foreman is being held by the strike and he wants to go to work."

Numerous strike meetings were held last night about the county and one group entered the home of W. F. Crist, 192 North Pine, Orange, to hold a meeting, reports stated. Crist, vacationing in Yosemite, was informed of the meeting and said he would return home "to see whether I should prosecute or not."

"The only reason many of the regular pickers aren't ready back to work, my deputies tell me, is due to their timidity and fear of violence," the sheriff said.

Santa Ana police were active yesterday and today but reported the "disturbance" is all "talk" thus far.

It was reported that but 400 picking jobs, at most, were still unfilled, not more than that number of strikers are at work.

Virginia Torres, 29, Placentia, and Epifania Marquez, 30, La Jolla camp, were given county jail sentences of 60 and 30 days, respectively, yesterday on disturbing the peace complaints, when they appeared before Judge Frank Tausch of Anaheim police court.

The Torres woman is accused of joining in strike activities with some 200 other women yesterday

Application For Ten High School Courts Is Denied

Requested construction of ten new tennis courts at Santa Ana high school campus, as part of the rebuilding program under way there, was temporarily turned down last night by the board of education, in dealing with financial provision for the new building program.

The ten tennis courts, estimated to cost $17,000, were part of a list of requested additions to the program, costing about $34,000. Since the board has a prospective margin of only $45,000 available above the commitments already made, it held off for the present on the tennis courts and other requested equipment.

BATTLE PLANS OF GOP SHAPED AT CONFERENCE

vention was mentioned frequently as another break in the New Deal wall against which the Republicans will hurl their biggest oratorical guns. Yesterday's visit of William H. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, former Democratic governor of Oklahoma, was another high point in the pre-conference discussions.

Senator Copeland's reference to "Postmaster Farley and his gang" pleased the Republicans most. They feel Farley did them a fine turn when he referred to Landon as coming from a "typical prairie state," and they intend to make the most of what they term a "typical Farley break."

Appreciate Farley
"We appreciate what Farley has done for us," Hamilton commented. "He's now carried the prairie states for us."

Accompanying Knox was a delegation of Republican leaders which included former national chairman Henry P. Fletcher; Charles D. Hillis, New York committee chairman; Ralph Williams, Oregon vice-chairman; Daniel Pomeroy, New Jersey committeeman; Col. R. G. Craeger, Texas committeeman; Harrison E. Spangler, Iowa committeeman and director of the campaign headquarters at Chicago; Mrs. Worthington Scranton, Pennsylvania committeewoman; Mrs. Bertha Bauer, Illinois committeewoman, and Mrs. Paul Fitzsimmons, Rhode Island committeewoman.

Old guard break to Landon before the convention when he released his Connecticut delegation for the Kansas, also was here.

Landon Walks Out
While Knox talked Landon slipped out of the room. It was the second meeting of the men. At the Kansas Day celebration in 1935 Knox was the principal speaker and Landon introduced him.

Neither would discuss previous decisions of the sub-committee at the strategy meeting this afternoon. Both, however, expressed determination to start the campaign immediately after brief vacations. Landon will go to Estes Park, Colorado, and Knox to Manchester.

Other members of the national committee also declined to talk campaign plans until after the huddle with Landon and John D. M. Hamilton, chairman of the National committee, and Landon's campaign manager.

Expect Farm Support
There was a general belief, however, that Landon's nomination would bring a Republican swing in the farm belt and that the campaign would be concentrated largely in metropolitan areas.

Knox's personal organization formed before the convention, probably will be placed at the disposal of the national committee.

There also were rumors that the present Republican headquarters force at Chicago would be reorganized with a Hamilton aide replacing Spangler, who would be used in agricultural areas.

Landon, Knox and committee members will have lunch at the executive mansion and then go to the Hayhawk hotel for their discussions. Deliberations are to be concluded late today, after which most members will leave for their homes. Knox, however, intends to remain for a conference tomorrow with Landon when they are expected to discuss campaign material.

Missing Publisher Sought by Police

NEW YORK, June 16.—(UP)—Elliot Keen, artist and editor of the motion picture magazine, Silver Screen, disappeared last Saturday and police have been unable to trace him, it was learned today.

Keen, who was 56 and in poor health, left a friend in mid-town, saying he was going to take the subway to his home at 35-38 80th street, Jackson Heights, Queens. He did not arrive.

A native of Boston, Keen attained prominence as an illustrator and a newspaperman before he became editor.

VETERANS WILL USE BONDS TO PAY OLD BILLS

A local real estate broker, who is a veteran himself and who has contacted more than 100 of the veterans, told The Register today that at least 30 per cent of the veterans plan to pay off old obligations with their bonus money. Another large group plans to save the money for a rainy day.

The same authority said that little of the bonus money would be spent foolishly. About 15 per cent of the veterans said they plan to buy new homes. He estimated that an equal number will expend their bonus money in paying off obligations on present homes and in fixing up their homes. Possibly 15 per cent will buy new automobiles, he said.

Automobile dealers in Santa Ana agreed that a big percentage of their recent increase in business has been caused by the bonus payments. One dealer said that at least 30 dealers have been made in recent days because of the bonus payments. The dealers said that the veterans apparently are tired of riding in old cars, and are buying new automobiles. It was estimated that veterans are buying about 20 new cars to every five used cars. One of the dealers said that he expected things to be loosened up so that he will get four or five times as much business indirectly as directly from the expenditure of the money.

Help Furniture Business
A prominent furniture dealer said today that the bonus payment has "made a tremendous increase in my business in the last few days."

He reported that the veterans are anxious to refurbish their homes and are trading in old furniture on new outfits. They are buying complete new home outfits, including washers, ironers, refrigerators, etc.

The veteran and his wife and children will be better dressed, it was evident, for clothing stores for men and women both reported a great pickup in business yesterday. Clothing stores expect an even greater volume of business when the veterans get their hands on the cash.

Mail carriers in the Santa Ana district placed more than a half-million dollars worth of bonds in the hands of around 1000 Santa Ana veterans last night, working late until there were less than five per cent of the bonds received Sunday and yesterday undelivered.

First bonus bonds delivered here yesterday went to veterans who have boxes at the postoffice. Some of these veterans got their bonds as early as 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Others had to wait until postmen started the special delivery rounds at 5 p. m.

Golden Flood Continues
The golden flood continued today, when 100 more registered letters containing about $55,000 for local veterans came by registered mail to the local post office, according to Postmaster Frank Harwood, who expects a similar amount to arrive on each registered mail until the entire matter is cleaned up. About $605,000 in bonus bonds now has arrived for Santa Ana veterans. Around $800,000 is due local veterans.

Several hundred veterans crowded the south lobby of the post office today, the first day of certification of the bonds for cashing. Postmaster Harwood announced today that special certification clerks will be at the postoffice every evening until 9 o'clock until the certification is finished. He expects this will take all week.

After the veterans are given a receipt for the bonds here, the bonds are sent to Los Angeles post office, where checks are mailed out directly to the veterans. Postmaster Frank Harwood said he expects the checks to get back here by Thursday or Friday.

Save Bond Envelope
When Frederick Lacade, disabled World war veteran, is discharged from the hospital ward of the National Military Home in West Los Angeles, he will have a home of his own in which to live. Lacade was the first hospitalized veteran to receive his bonus yesterday and he lost no time indorsing it over to Mrs. Lacade, who was on hand bright and early to take the slightly more than $600 to pay off a mortgage on the family home. It is enough to finish paying for the veteran's home in San Clemente.

In Los Angeles, Postmaster Briggs reiterated a warning to veterans not to destroy the envelope in which the baby bonds are delivered. The envelope bears a most important registration number which certifies the owner of the bonds and must be turned over to the certification officer and then forwarded to the paying station.

Court Notes

Superior Judge James L. Allen late yesterday decided in favor of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Dulaney after hearing the $8500 damage suit brought against the Dulaney by Ted Fryatt Jr., 20, of Anaheim, for injuries he received last December 20 in a motorcycle-automobile crash in Santa Ana.

The $6000 damage suit brought by Sam A. Sampson, promoter of the Orange County Athletic club, against the Hirsch Mercantile company, which sold Sampson a large tent that subsequently split and collapsed over the arena, was submitted to Superior Judge G. K. Scovel last yesterday at the conclusion of testimony in the case.

BOARD CALLS ELECTION ON SCHOOL BONDS

interest. It is believed that a new bond issue now could be sold on an interest-bearing basis of 2.4 per cent or less. The $140,000 high school bonds sold in March of this year received a bid averaging slightly below 2.4 per cent.

Reduce Tax Bill
Members of the board of education, therefore, expressed themselves as feeling that the district would be extremely foolish not to avail itself of the chance to cut $143,179 off its future tax bill, by substituting low-interest bonds for the high-interest Greene Bill loan.

Auditor Yost's statement showed that there is $458,000 remaining to be paid off, of the $500,000 high school loan. Interest on that principal for the remaining loan period, ending June 30, 1954, would be $271,909, at 4.4 per cent. Of the original $115,000 elementary school loan, $114,000 remains unpaid. Interest on that sum over the remaining loan period, would amount to $31,150. Principal and interest thus would aggregate $383,059.

The last of the unspent Greene Bill money was collected into one spot last night by board action, when the $11,500 remaining in the high school fund was transferred to the elementary fund and added to the approximately $26,000 remaining there. The combined funds will be used to finance reconstruction of Edison school, now in preparation. An additional sum, however, will be required by direct tax, to finish the job. This probably will add six or seven cents to next year's school tax rate, it is said.

Sell Present Bonds
Dr. Margaret Baker's motion to request the county supervisors to sell the remaining $83,000 bonds of the $223,000 voted last fall for high school reconstruction, $140,000 having been marketed last March, was made conditional upon the necessity for immediate sale of additional bonds. Secretary George Newcom was instructed to consult PWA officials on this point, before requesting the supervisors to call for bids.

It is believed, however, that with the board scheduled to open bids tomorrow on the last two units of the high school group, Blocks B and C, the federal officials will want the bond money available before approving the projects, even though it may not be spent for several months.

Increased cost of completing the last three units of the high school as compared with the original estimates, required sale of the remaining $83,000 bonds, it was stated. A statement by Auditor Yost showed that the original estimate on Block E, which was recently awarded to Contractors Means, Ball and Honer, was $57,200, whereas the cost will be $73,000, including allowance for contingencies; the estimate on Block B has been stepped up from $76,500 to $99,000; that of Block C from $58,900 to $98,000. Adding architect fees of $19,920 and inspection fees of $6975, the total cost of the three units now is estimated at $296,895.

Amount Increased
Additional contracts for equipment already awarded increases that figure to $326,701. Last night, the board decided to dispense for the present with additional requested equipment and other improvements, including ten tennis courts, which would cost an estimated $34,185.

The auditor's statement showed that, with the $83,000 bonds sold, and assuming that the federal government would approve the application of its grant to the projects as outlined, there would be a margin of $48,899 above the estimated cost of the three units, and the equipment contracts already awarded, but the board nevertheless decided to hold off on the additional requests mentioned, because of emergency costs that might develop.

Open J. C. Bide

Bids will be opened June 29 on the contract for erecting two new buildings on the junior college campus, for the home economics department. The estimated cost will be about $3000 each. The board last night approved the proposal to move a third bungalow from the high school campus to junior college campus, for journalism lab and other uses.

COURT SLAPS NEW DEAL LABOR LAWS

NEW ORLEANS, June 16.—(UP)—Federal attorneys expected an order from Washington today to appeal to the U. S. supreme court against a circuit court of appeals decision that the Wagner-Connelly Labor Relations Act is unconstitutional.

The circuit court ruling, issued yesterday in a dispute between the Jones and Laughlin Steel company and the National Labor Relations board, completed court destruction of all the New Deal's attempts to regulate employer-employee relations by law.

A member of the National Labor Relations board said privately that he had no hope the supreme court would reverse the lower body.

Three judges of the appellate court, the same three who upheld

CALL FOR BIDS ON $83,000 OF SCHOOL BONDS

The county supervisors today called for bids on the $83,000 bond issue of Santa Ana high school district, remaining unsold from the $223,000 issue voted last fall for high school reconstruction. Bids will be opened on the bonds July 7 at 11 a. m.

The call for bids was issued at request of the Santa Ana board of education, which requires the additional funds to complete the last two units of the five new high school buildings, contracts on which will be awarded tomorrow.

Supervisors today allocated from the gas tax the sum of $5199 for the City of Anaheim, to be used for street improvement. A similar request from San Clemente, for $593.62, also was granted.

On motion of Supervisor Willard Smith, the board authorized a warrant for $52.46 to be drawn in favor of the city of Orange, to close the escrow charges connected with recent purchase of a site in Orange for the state forestry service headquarters. The city and county joined in the purchase.

Constitutionality of the Tennessee Valley Authority a year ago, concurred in the decision.

"I took nothing from your office," replied Assemblyman Ralph W. Evans, committee counsel. "Any papers in our possession were turned over to the committee."

A direct reply was elicited from the witness when he was asked: "Now about this commission contract on sales of 'Jinricky' to Safeway stores? Did you have some special 'in' with Safeway Stores?"

"No that had nothing to do with me," Werner said angrily. "That applied only to Clem Whitaker (San Francisco publicist) in return for advertising. All I did was draw the contract."

COUNTY SCHOOL BOARD OPPOSES TAX TRANSFERS

After County School Superintendent Ray Adkinson had appeared before the county supervisors today to urge apportionment of approximately $47,000 in redeemed delinquent taxes to the various school districts, rather than to the general fund of the county, where the board transferred it a week ago, action in the matter was deferred one week, pending a requested new ruling from Attorney General Webb.

A ruling on hand from Webb's office states that the money should be apportioned to the schools, since it was originally levied for that purpose, prior to establishment of the sales tax. Since the sales tax was substituted for local school taxes, the supervisors hold that the schools are not entitled to the present redemption fund.

Adkinson today told the board that he believed the question was simply which administration, the county or the schools, got the money and got credit for the tax deduction it would represent. He could not guarantee, however, that all the school districts would apply it to reducing tax rates, as the supervisors plan to do. A majority of the schools will do that, though, he said.

Supervisor W. C. Jerome stated his position, saying that he, for one, didn't care who administered the fund if he could be certain that it would be used to reduce tax rates, and not be regarded as "gray" by school boards. The money, he said, didn't belong to the county or to the schools but belonged to the taxpayers.

He lacked the respect for Attorney General Webb's opinion that Adkinson had shown, he said, and believed that officials should be protected by court decisions rather than depend upon anyone's opinion.

Adkinson had expressed the hope that court action would not be necessary to settle the question.

CITY PLANNING IMPROVEMENTS FOR STREETS

Budget for use of approximately $22,960, Santa Ana's share of the second quarter-cent gas tax, collected for the state's municipalities by the state, for use on the city's major streets other than state highways running through the city, was approved by city council last night.

City Engineer J. L. McBride and City Auditor Lloyd Banks who arranged the budget pointed out that $15,121 remains unexpended from the first quarter-cent gas tax and can be added to the budget plan just approved.

The bulk of unexpended monies from the gas tax, after major streets are given proper maintenance through necessary repair, will be set aside, according to the approved budget, to resurface Broadway from Fourth to Washington—and beyond if funds hold out—with asphalt; put new shoulders on West Fifth, west of the Pacific Electric tracks, and re-rolling and resurfacing of North Bristol, Seventeenth street to the city limits, north. The Broadway improvement will not be started before next spring, however, as the city's share has not been delivered here yet.

SLABAUGH CASE FAILS TO COME BEFORE BOARD

Today's session of the county supervisors had failed to bring the expected clash over Dr. F. W. Slabaugh, county purchasing agent, when the noon recess arrived.

The afternoon session, however, was expected to produce a motion from Supervisor N. E. West, who is seeking the official scalp of the purchasing agent, and who claims he has the oral resignation of Dr. Slabaugh. The motion would be to have the board accept the resignation.

Three members of the board were ready to vote the motion down if it was presented. It was expected that Chairman John C. Mitchell would leave the chair to second the motion, but that Supervisors W. C. Jerome, Leroy Lyon and Willard Smith would vote against it. The latter three supervisors are backing Dr. Slabaugh in the row.

West and Mitchell accuse the purchasing agent of favoritism in placing county business.

VANDERMAST HEADS HOME OWNED GROUP

Walter Vandermaast was last night elected president of the board of directors of the Home Owned Business association of Orange county, following the resignation of J. H. Bell. Bell, in resigning, announced that he was retiring from active business in Santa Ana, and would take a much needed rest. Vandermaast formerly was first vice president.

Two other officers elected at the board meeting were Herbert L. Miller to the office of first vice president and Lloyd Shearer to the office of second vice president. New firms voted into the organization were the Claven Furniture company, 401 West Fourth street, and Hans and Alphonse, delicatessen, Grand Central Market.

PUBLICITY FUND TO BE RAISED BY CITY WITH LICENSE FEES

An ordinance setting aside a fund to be used for publicity and advertising purposes by the city, was given first reading by city council last night.

The money for the fund is limited to five cents on every $100 of assessed valuation of taxable property, $12,000 per year, but the council signified that it would use no more than one-third of the limit, at most, to advertise the city. City license fees will furnish the money for the publicity-advertising fund.

However, Curry stated, there is no problem for Orange county involved because, said Curry, he knows of only one veteran included in the county's "unemployable" program.

The bonus payment would not change the status of this case, said Curry. The veteran had left his family here, and obviously the family could not be eliminated from the unemployable program, because of the veteran's bonus.

As an illustration of other cases that might not be affected by receipt of the bonus, Curry said that veterans who used their bonus money to pay off mortgages on their homes, still would be eligible for aid as unemployables.

DOG RESCUES BOY AT NEWPORT BEACH

Prince Pluto, St. Bernard owned by "Shorty" Gunther of Newport Beach, "climbed" his claim to a medal over the weekend when he brought six-year-old George Mabes Jr., of 229 South Walnut street, Brea, out of the water after the lad had been knocked down by a wave.

The dog, saved the life of a child in the surf about two years ago and application was made at that time for a medal for the dog.

The Mabes child was playing near the Newport pier at the time and did not notice the approach of the large wave. The St. Bernard dashed into the water at once, grasped the lad by his suspenders and brought him ashore.

The child is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Mabes sr. His parents were on the beach nearby.

CAR RUNS WILD IN SPECTACULAR DASH

CLEVELAND, June 15.—(UP)—Three youths out for a joy ride staged a combination loop-the-loop dip-the-dip thriller. After an hour's study, the police figured it out this way. The car flattened a boulevard stop sign, bounced off the curb on to a six-foot terrace, tore a path through three thickets, dashed wildly through a private estate, leaped over a 30-foot cliff, careened across a congested boulevard, smashed through a steel wire fence, plunged down a 40-foot embankment, crashed into a clump of trees and brought up on the edge of a creek. Then William Chovanec, the driver, climbed out and asked for a drink. None of the trio was hurt.

LIONS INSTALL NEW OFFICERS FRIDAY NIGHT

Installation of new officers of the Santa Ana Lions club will be marked by an appropriate banquet Friday night at the Santa Ana Country club, when Lions and their wives attend the annual event. The affair will begin with dinner at 7 p. m. followed by a musical program, installation ceremonies and a dance.

President C. W. Harrison, acting in his official capacity for the last time, will turn the gavel over to President Elect Rolla Hays Jr., who will lead the organization during the coming year. Other officers to be installed Friday night are First Vice President Don Deane, Second Vice President Louis Jackson, Third Vice President Don Dearth, Treasurer John McCarty, Lion Tamer Ivis Stein, Tail Twister Dale Decker and Directors C. W. Hill and William Wells. E. M. Sundquist, secretary of the Lions club, in resigning from his position, brings to an end 10 years of active service in office. In the weekly publication of the Santa Ana Lions club, issued today, it was announced that the

BREAKFASTERS PLAN PROGRAM FOR NEXT MEET

Highly pleased at the great interest being shown by members of the Santa Ana Breakfast club in the type of program now being presented each week, officers of the club today announced plans for presenting another colorful program Thursday morning at 7:30 o'clock in James' cafe.

The program for this week will include a special series of baffling magic feats by Floyd E. Stewart, who has appeared professionally in the United States, England, Scotland and Ireland. Stewart will present his new and original fire-acting act, in addition to other acts.

Madeline Paxton, who has appeared professionally with Stewart during the past year and who is said to be one of the finest accordionists in the business, will appear on the breakfast club program. It was announced.

The third act on the professional part of the program features LeNove Kimball, songstress. The Santa Ana Breakfast Club Amateur Hour program this week will feature the Two Oklahoma Sisters in duo harmony in songs, on the guitar and yodeling. The girls are Veeda Mae Johnson and Maida Faye Johnson. Floyd Stewart will act as master of ceremonies.

President Edward W. Cochems announced today that anyone not a member of the Breakfast club who would like to have breakfast with the club and enjoy the program, can do so by calling him or Floyd Stewart.

Indications point to a record attendance at the 4-H summer camp, which will be held from June 28 to July 1 at Camp Rockmill, Orange county Boy Scout camp in the San Bernardino mountains, it was announced today.

The camp is open to all club members, their parents and club leaders. An extensive program of activities is being formulated, which includes hikes, swimming, games, leather handicraft and nature study on such subjects as trade identification, forest conservation and geology.

Some entertaining campfire program also will be a feature of the camp, which will be in charge of Miss Frances Liles and Ross E. Crane of the agricultural extension service.

JAYSEE STUDENT LOAN FUND BOLSTERED AT DANCE REVUE

By ELEANOR ELLIOTT

So much interest was aroused by the song and dance revue, "Tomorrow's Stars," in which Vera Marilyn Getty presented pupils of her dance studio Saturday night as a Junior College student loan fund benefit, that almost 200 disappointed patrons had to turn away from the Willard auditorium, where the program was presented to a capacity house.

The affair was staged and co-sung with singing accompaniment; "sterned with brilliancy and the artist acquitted themselves so well that it provided a pleasing entertainment. It opened with "Mistress Mary and Garden balled" in which "Mistress Mary" was danced by Dorothy McCoy amidst "Dawn of Day," "Miss Sunshine," a "French Bouquet," violets and various flowers including three-year-old Marlene McCollum as "Little Daisy," "Baby Butterflies" were Nayan McNeill, Dorothy Haan, Iris Wilson, Nicole Gregory, Dorothy Carden, Barbara Bradshaw, Noia and Mary Steed. Others in this feature were Virginia Reed, Mary Ellen Powell, Ginger Germain, Ruth Cowdrey, Patsy Dawson, Florence Pains, Winifred Young, Joyce Ferguson, Jo Ann Hollerith, Gloria Banks, Jo Ann Mitchell and Kathryn Hildebrand.

"Topsy Turvy Town" was danced by Sherrill Anderson, Mildred Ward, Linda Huber, Lorna McCandless, Shirley Van Gorkum and Gloria Wilken. "Mother Goose and Company" presented all the favorites of childhood with many specialties. Taking part were Freddie Graves as "Mother Goose," Ginger Germain, Dicky Runnels, Jacqueline Cozad, Beverly Anthon, Edna Mae Squires, Charles Clark, Barbara Gredier, Teddy Russell, Dorothy Callahan, Margaret Pierce, Earl Harmon, Yvonne Zaket, Ruth Dove, Sharon Carnahan, Phyllis Ehrler, Bonnie Jean Peterson, Jean Cole, Dorcas Durbin, Dorothy Lou Kimball, Jean Mead, Louise Seavy, Patsy Ann Dyson, Ruth Ragie, Joan Walworth, Patsy Joe Vaught. The second division offered solo and duo dances in variety some Gloria Miedek, Aline Simmons, Iris Crawford, Fayette Wilson. In a group dance in this section were Eloise Jacobs, Gloria Kaufman, Susan McPherson, Beverly Dawson, Dorothy Wall, Marjorie Wall and Lorraine Crawford. Many of these gifted young people appeared in the "Military Parade" for which the stage sparkled with sequin flags, and "Lights Out" was signaled by Nye Martin's solo. Mrs. Janet Martin and her orchestra accompanied all the numbers. Dancers in the finale in addition to many named were Ruth Whitney, Josephine Stanley, Dorothy Tubbs, Helen Rupert, Babe Markwood, Pauline Struck, Phyllis McKinney, Feri Morrison, Martha McKee, Jeff Whitten and Louise Seavy.

Picnics and Reunions

All former residents of Terre Haute, Ind., are invited to attend the annual picnic to be held next Sunday in Sycamore Grove, Los Angeles, according to an announcement made today by Miss Anna Black, Santa Ana, president of the society. In the afternoon, a special session and election of officers will be held. Over 800 invitations have been mailed former residents of Terre Haute who now live in Southern California.

BURNS SOCIETY TO PICNIC ON SUNDAY

The Burns society of Orange county will hold its second annual picnic Sunday at Hillcrest park, Fullerton, according to an announcement made by an official of the organization today. The affair will start at 1 p. m. The organization has extended invitations to all who wish to attend, whether they be Scotch or not, and special invitations have been sent to Canadian Veterans of the Southern area command. Sports and amusements will feature the afternoon program.

Santa Ana Asked To Attend Beach City Celebration

Santa Ana is invited to take part in Huntington Beach's twenty-seventh annual Fourth of July celebration, according to communication to city council last night from M. M. McCallen, general chairman, and William Gallienne, secretary-treasurer.

Santa Ana's municipal band is invited to take part in the "Carnival Del Mar" parade, part of the "pretentious Fourth of July celebration program," according to the letter from the beach men. Council ordered the invitation acknowledged and a copy of the invitation delivered to Harry Hanson of the local band.

"OH GOOD—THERE'S A GAS RANGE!"

"Of course! It cooks much better and the cooking costs so much less!"

People who rent houses and apartments look for gas ranges wherever ranges are furnished. Especially in Southern California, with low-cost natural gas, it is far more economical to cook with gas than by any other modern method. It costs as little as a third as much as with the next most convenient kind of cooking heat.

Gas goes to work at full speed the moment you turn it on. Stops when you turn it off. Gives you every fine degree of adjustment for careful cooking, from the gentlest simmer to a vigorous boil.

See the newest gas ranges, with their many improvements and conveniences. Your appliance dealer or gas company will gladly demonstrate them for you.

A STYLE PREVIEW of Modern Living Room Furniture

as new as tomorrow!.....styled for today!

This preview of modern living room furniture will be held at Chandler's starting Wednesday. The store will remain open until nine o'clock Wednesday evening to afford everyone an opportunity to attend this exhibition of the latest furniture creations. Thirty living room groups, selected as the finest examples of modern period furniture will be on display.

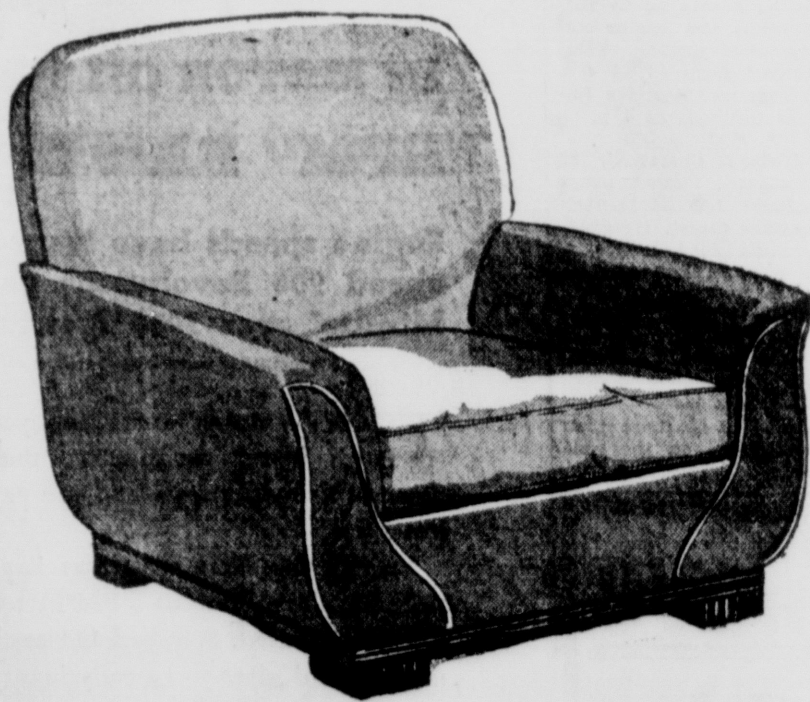

AIRFLOW GROUP

The designer has caught the spirit of the airways in the streamline arms, the slope of the back and the molded base. Luxurious comfort too, to sit in it makes one think of riding on the clouds.

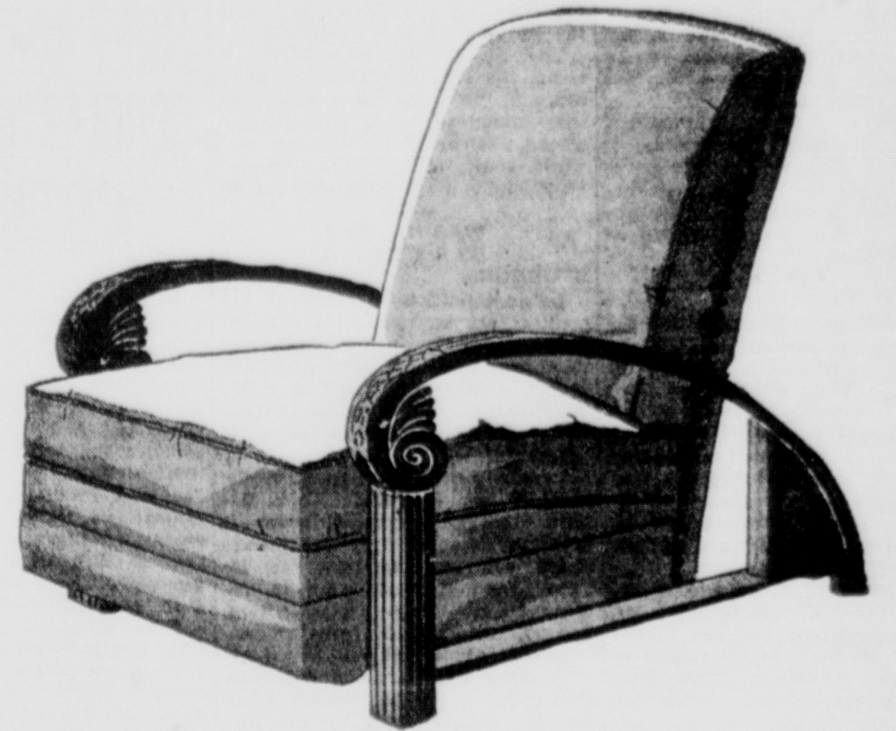

COLOR

The proper use of color plays an important part in furnishing the home today. Modern furniture designers employ color with as delicate a touch as an artist would use on his canvas. Harmonizing and contrasting colors are found both in wood finishes and covering materials. Chandler's preview will make you color conscious.

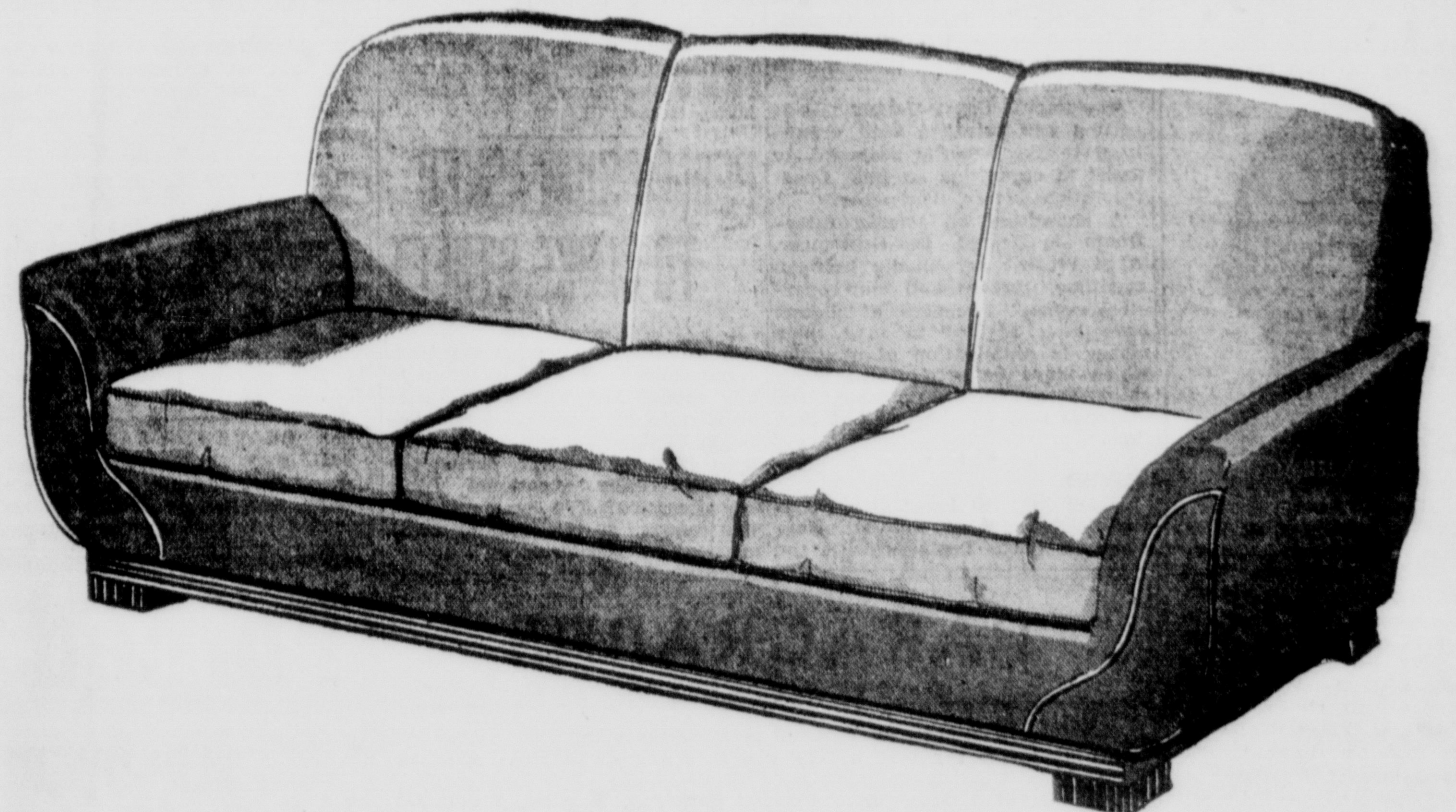

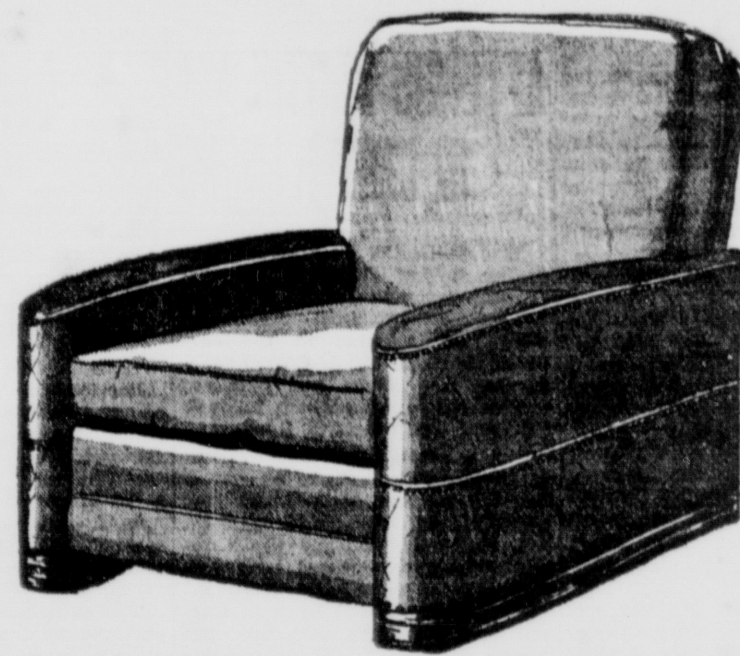

TROPHY CHAIR

Truly a memento of the designers achievement in modern.

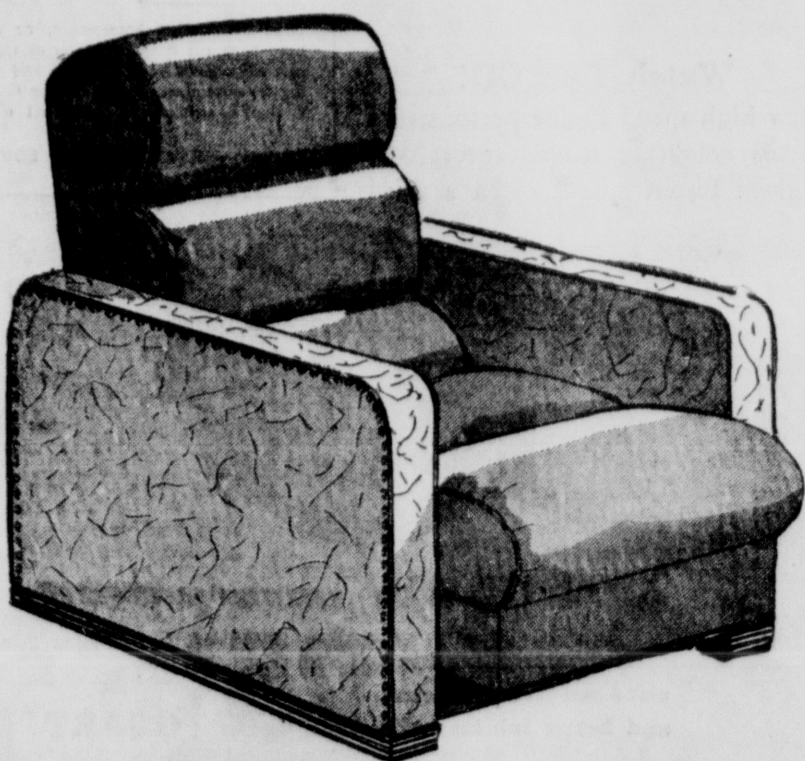

MODERN

... as we interpret it, is as much a furniture period as Italian Renaissance, Georgian, Eighteenth Century, Colonial or any others. Modern is the furniture period of today, styled for the home of today. Modern is not just an architectural style; it is a basic idea.

ROYAL GROUP Classic in line, a pleasing combination of curve and straight line, comfortable and well balanced, this group is modern at its best. Reasonably priced, proving that modern need not be expensive at Chandler's.

BACHELOR CLUB

A modern chair for the man of today. A true combination of comfort and style.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Ordinarily a Democratic chairman smiles off a Republican convention with a statement, a couple of paragraphs in length, containing a few unimportant but stirring remarks. The Republican chairman handles the Democratic convention two weeks later in the same small way. It is an old American custom. However, this year, Chairman Farley chose to issue about 1000 sharp words, hitting hard at the Republican rally with something more than a laugh.

An equally invariable rule of political strategy likewise has always caused schemers on both sides to hold back their important orators until about September. But this year, the Democratic Farley, Sen. George Norris of Nebraska, was rushed to a microphone 48 hours after the Republicans adjourned.

Not from these signs alone but from other inner preparations, it is evident that the campaign is not going to be like any seen before. New rules apparently are going to be made by both sides as they go along.

SCHEMING
The men who are running the Democratic campaign are sold on the strategy of delivering blow for blow with their adversaries from the start. They started getting excited about two months ago. At that time they started expanding their speaking and publicity set-ups. Now, a week before their convention, they are about as far along as they usually are by the middle of the campaign.

The author of this haste is the justly famous strategist, Mr. Charles Michelson. He has insisted, contrary to the advice of some other excellent New Deal schemers, (Michelson writes the Farley statements, which are stronger than anything else the New Deal puts out.)

What Mr. Michelson probably has figured out is that the Republican scheme organization must now start again from the beginning, that its set-up cannot be functioning full blast within thirty to sixty days, and that, in the meantime, he will have a big edge.

OFFSET NO. 1

Nearly everyone in Washington is now writing at least one suggested plank for the Democratic platform. Most of these planks will wind up as kindling wood in the White House cellar. However, there is one which will not be used to start White House fires next fall. This is State Secretary

SHE SUFFERED AGONY WITH INDIGESTION; THEN GLY-CAS AMAZES

All Else Had Failed Repeatedly in Santa Ana Lady's Stomach Case; Nerves Quiet, Too; Poisons Driven from Her System—Now Like New Again.

"Too much praise cannot be given to a medicine with the merit of Gly-Cas for it is not an ordinary medicine," said Mrs. G. C. Flack, 1817 North Main Street, Santa Ana, a highly respected lady of this vicinity who has lived here for the past ten years.

MRS. G. C. FLACK

"I suffered terrible agony with indigestion before I knew of Gly-Cas," continued Mrs. Flack. "Gas formed in my stomach in abundance after every meal I ate to such an extent that my heart was rapidly being affected. I could not rest at night; many times I would sit up in bed to get my breath. Pains were continually shooting through my chest, was terribly nervous and finally my appetite failed me completely. What I did force myself to eat would not agree with me. I tried many different kinds of medicines, actually did my best to get relief but grew worse each day instead. When I finally began this new Gly-Cas I was almost without hope of ever getting well again—but with a WEEK I found to my great and pleasant surprise that Gly-Cas was DIFFERENT from the ordinary medicines of today—it gave me RESULTS."

"Gly-Cas seemed to go directly to the cause of my years of poor health and suffering and take it entirely out of my system," continued Mrs. Flack. "Then, too, Gly-Cas did its work in a most natural manner. Those attacks of indigestion and gas have gone entirely and no longer trouble me in the least. My appetite is now fine, eat anything I wish without any ill effects afterwards, rest well at night and feel fine in every way. No wonder so many people are praising Gly-Cas so highly—it deserves it all and more too. Gly-Cas is the first medicine I have ever found that did not disappoint me with its results."

Gly-Cas is sold by McCoy's Drug Company, 108 West Fourth Street, Santa Ana, and by leading druggists in all surrounding towns.

Hulla's. He has laid aside the cares of state lately to compose the answer to Senator Borah's foreign relations plank.

Those who have been looking over his shoulder say his plank is not a plank, but an objet d'art. Its primary pledge is to keep the U. S. out of war. (It points with pride to the diplomatic juggling through which we remained friendly to the league, Italy and Ethiopia, and says the New Deal has brought a clearer definition of the rights and duties of neutrals.)

A second Hull pledge forecasts "the end of economic warfare" and "the restoration of world trade" through a broadening of reciprocal trade agreements. A third one puts President Roosevelt on the back for developing closer economic and political unity among the nations of the Americas.

The foreign relations plank is about the only one to which they can add "look to the record," and they intend to do it. They do not intend, however, to mention the world court, and hope no one at Philadelphia next week will try it.

WASHINGTON

STUBBORN
Labor conditions throughout the country are worrying the administration. Strikes are becoming numerous and more difficult to adjust. Conciliators of the Labor Relations Board are stumped when "both sides" refuse to meet in conference.

Two reasons are assigned for the stubbornness of recent labor disputes. First, organized labor is deeply disappointed by the breakdown of laws enacted for its benefit and the left wing is determined to take direct action. Second, employers fear closed-shop campaigns and believe that if they show a stiff front they can stall until the Wagner labor disputes act is upset by the Supreme Court.

Legal advisers of big concerns are unanimous in holding the Wagner act unconstitutional. This encourages employers to fight off Labor Relations Board attempts to settle strikes by forcing concessions to union demands.

SPITE

Some politicians, always on the scent of deep-laid political plots, think they see in the rising labor storm a concerted scheme to beat Roosevelt. Their theory is that industry is determined to take the offensive now, in the hope of warding off a tougher subsequent war over the closed shop.

Still another motive attributed to industry is that it will welcome turmoil and an ebb tide during the fall as a means of defeating the New Deal. Some observers actually expect a stock market slump to be engineered by big operators and their industrial allies.

Inquiry among influential business men fails to confirm this surmise. One of them said: "Bosh! Do you think we want to bite off our own noses?"

DEMANDS

William Z. Foster is busy encouraging formation of industrial unions among Pacific Coast steel workers. Foster is said to have advised his followers that the Committee for Industrial Organization part in supporting the Committee for Industrial Organization, because the Communists hope to take over all these unions sooner or later.

The Pacific Coast Maritime Federation has voted to send organizers to the Atlantic seaboard to assist in organizing an East Coast federation before September.

A showdown on Pacific waterfronts is feared in September, when present agreements between maritime workers and ship operators expire. Members of unions have been advised to save their money in anticipation of a strike which may be precipitated when shipowners refuse to grant extra demands that will be made at that time.

government to submit to wage and labor codes. Intense opposition to this bill is now being developed by many industrial concerns. At the same time, pressure for passage of the bill is very strong, as witnessed by the recent astonishing telegram from President William Green of the American Federation of Labor, virtually ordering committee members to report the bill out. This has been done.

JANET RAITT WINS SCHOLASTIC HONORS AND CASH AWARD

High scholastic attainments of Janet Raitt, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. G. Emmett Raitt, 2026 North Ross street, brought her special recognition from President C. K. Edmunds of Pomona College at Claremont and a cash award, it was learned today.

Miss Raitt was awarded the Jennings Prize of $50 at Pomona College as winner of first place among freshmen women for progress in English during the past semester. The award will be applied on tuition charges for the coming academic year.

In addition to a public announcement made in the college commencement program, Miss Raitt was further honored with a personal letter from the college president, who offered his personal congratulations.

Miss Raitt arrived home from Claremont this morning. She will stay here for two weeks, and then will spend the balance of the summer at Lake Tahoe.

ATTENDS BROTHER IN LAST ILLNESS

Miss Sallie Correll returned yesterday to her duties as manager of Parkview apartments, 220 West Second street, from El Centro where she assisted in the care of her brother, Ralph Correll, during his last illness, and remained for funeral services which followed his death on Thursday, June 11.

Ralph Correll was a cattle rancher in the valley, where he owned two full sections of land. He had been ill with whooping cough for several weeks, and his death resulted from a ruptured lung suffered in the paroxysms of coughing. He is survived by Mrs. Correll and a son and daughter. The family was well known in this community.

Funeral services Saturday afternoon were conducted by the Rev. C. D. Hicks, pastor of Santa Ana Christian Missionary Alliance church and a life long friend of the Correll family. Burial will take place in the former Correll family home, Bethel, Ill.

PERMISSION ASKED TO CLOSE STREET

A communication from the Nazarene church board of directors to city council last night, asked permission to close Parton street between Fifth and Sixth streets daily from July 6 to July 25, during the church's daily vocational Bible school session. The communication was referred to the planning commission for consideration.

NINE TEACHERS ASSIGNED BY SCHOOL BOARD

Nine elections and assignments of teachers in Santa Ana schools were voted by the board of education last night, on recommendation of Supt. Frank Henderson and other administrative heads.

Another vacancy was brought to the board's attention when Superintendent Henderson reported that Robert Clark, recently elected as instructor of journalism and English at Santa Ana high school, had rejected the position in favor of a post at Taft, paying a higher salary.

Those elected or assigned last night were: Miss Frances Marion DeMasters, graduate U. S. C. and Fresno State college, with two years experience, elected kindergarten teacher in one of the Mexican schools, to replace Mrs. Grace Bast, who withdrew her application for the post.

Miss Natalie Neff, Santa Ana girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nat H. Neff, and a graduate of Santa Ana High and J. C., also Santa Barbara State college, elected part-time teacher at Jefferson school.

William Dean McQuarrie, of San Jose State college and Stanford University, son of the president of San Jose State, to replace a transferred shop instructor at Lathrop Junior high school.

Blanchard Beatty, of Santa Ana, graduate of U. S. C., as assistant coach at Santa Ana Junior college.

Miss Ruth Bradley, of Santa Ana, graduate of Santa Ana Junior college, U. C. L. A. and the Riverside Library school, elected assistant librarian at Santa Ana high school.

Herbert A. Michel, son of a former Santa Ana Lutheran minister, graduate of U. C. L. A. and Claremont college, elected teacher of music and academic subjects at Willard Junior high school.

Mrs. Grace M. Knipe, elected to elementary schools, reassigned to junior college, where she taught this year.

Mrs. Marguerite West Hill, elected to elementary schools, reassigned to junior high school, where she served during present term.

Mrs. Nellie Smith, elected to elementary schools, reassigned to junior high school, where she served this term.

WALTER STUTSMAN CALLED BY DEATH

Services for Walter A. Stutsman, 61, who passed away at his residence, 1001 Newport Road, Tustin, yesterday, will be held from the Winbiger Mortuary, the date to be announced later. Mr. Stutsman, a native of Iowa, had been a resident of Tustin for 10 years and had lived in California for 44 years.

The prominent citrus grower is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ruth E. Stutsman; two sons, Walter A. Stutsman Jr. and Allen W. Stutsman; a daughter, Ruth Stutsman; and a brother, Judge Carl A. Stutsman, Los Angeles superior court.

Mr. Stutsman was well known in California as a mining engineer, organizer and capitalist. During recent years, however, he had devoted his time to orange ranching.

FIRE FOLLOWERS DISBANDED
ENREKA, Cal. (UP)—Fire have been stricken off the list of public amusements here. City officials have notified the population that everyone who has the habit of jumping into his flivver at the first scream of the fire sirens and trying to beat the fire engine to the fire will be prosecuted hereafter.

LEAVE FOR EAST

FULLERTON, June 16.—Mr. and Mrs. Albert Launer and their children are leaving Friday for an extended trip through the east.

CHANDLER TO HOLD FURNITURE PREVIEW

Living room furniture as new as tomorrow and styled for today will be featured in a preview tomorrow at Chandler's Furniture store, according to an announcement made today. Arrangements have been made to keep the store open tomorrow until 6 p. m. in order to afford the public an opportunity to attend the exhibition.

The style show will feature 30 living room groups, selected as the finest examples of modern period furniture. Some of the pieces to be featured are the Trophy chair, Airflow group, the Bachelor Club and the Royal Group.

EDUCATOR IN TALK BEFORE ROTARY CLUB

"After travelling through numerous foreign countries and studying their various forms of government, I am still convinced that our own democratic system is the best for us."

This statement was made today by Dr. Herbert Harris, Whittier college, in an address before members of the Santa Ana Rotary club at their noon meeting in the Green Cat cafe. Dr. Harris, who is a past district governor of Rotary, was introduced by Santa Ana Superintendent of Schools Frank Henderson.

"We are facing the most crucial period in the history of the United States at the present time," Dr. Harris said. "We have reached a turning point in the development of America's future. This future that we discuss so much depends to a large extent on the developments in our government during the next few years."

In the past, Dr. Harris said, we learned independence and self reliance. Today, as a result of the rapid growth of the country, we must learn cooperation and at the same time maintain our individual independence. Other countries have undergone radical changes and they have done so through the education of their youth. America can progress or remain static, depending entirely upon the education of American youth.

"It would be fatal to our system of government if we should establish a didactic system of education," Dr. Harris said. "We must teach our children how to think, but at the same time develop in them a desire and a capacity to think for themselves and reach their own decisions."

Local Briefs

Harry A. Cline, formerly of the Orange County district agency of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company, who recently was transferred to San Bernardino, has returned to his office there after spending the weekend with his family here. Cline, who is district agent for San Bernardino county, plans to move his family to Redlands later.

William Dwight Cresswell, 20, 1602 Ocean avenue, Sunset Beach and Anna Belle Lee McDonnell, 19, 2605 Delaware street, Huntington Beach, have filed notice of intention to wed, in Los Angeles.

District Attorney W. F. Menton will attend the state convention of district attorneys at Lake Tahoe June 25, 26 and 27.

There are said to be more than 900 languages in use on the continent of Asia.

TEN ARE HURT IN ACCIDENTS OVER COUNTY

Ten persons were injured, six of them seriously, in two automobile accidents reported to police and hospital officials today.

Five Mexican men from Corona were taken to county hospital last night after their car blew a tire and turned over near Placentia. Lawrence Castro, 22, suffered probable jaw fractures and head lacerations; Francisco Gonzales, possible skull fracture and lacerated scalp; Consuelo Nieto, severe face lacerations and pavement burns; Adam Sepulveda, severe bruises and face cuts and George Decerra, probable fractured collar-bone, fractured thumb and cuts and bruises.

When care driven by Raynaldo Esparaza, Route 1, Garden Grove, and Mrs. Meta H. Rigby, Los Angeles, collided at 11 a. m. today, at Broadway and West streets, Anaheim, Mrs. Hermine Esparaza, 54, suffered severe scalp lacerations; Esparaza and two children, Virginia and Richard, cuts and bruises, and Mrs. Elizabeth Myler, Mrs. Rigby's mother, cuts and bruises. Mrs. Esparaza was treated at county hospital today.

Mrs. Charles Milton, Long Beach, suffered back injuries, and E. L. Daugherty, 29, 914 South Parton, Santa Ana, cuts on the legs, yesterday afternoon at Eighth and Flower as cars operated by Daugherty and T. B. Taylor, Long Beach, collided.

Onie Saunders, city water department, and J. H. Shaw, county assessor's office, failed to enjoy one another's company yesterday after a near-accident in Santa Ana. "He became very abusive and stated he was an officer and was going to arrest me," Saunders said, according to a police report on file. "He said he would put me in jail." Checkup with Police

GIVE BEATING TO WOMAN, MINISTER

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 16.—

(UP)—A Memphis Socialist worker and a Little Rock, Ark., minister, charged today that six "well dressed white men" beat them severely near Earle, Ark., last night and forced them to leave that community—scene of disorders in a current strike by members of the tenant farmers union.

The pair—Miss Willie Blagden, attractive Memphis girl, and the Rev. Claude C. Williams, who is also a labor representative—said the group played them with a large leather strap. They exhibited black and blue marks in support of their charges.

TOWNSEND CLUBS

A pie-eating contest will be a feature of the meeting scheduled tomorrow evening by Townsend Club No. 5 in the Richland Avenue M. E. church, Richland and Parton streets. The meeting is set for 6:30 p. m., when apple pie a la mode, and coffee, will be served.

In the pie-eating match the club is pitting its champion, Lanky Larson, against all comers. Besides the contest, the evening's program includes singing, readings and speaking. The public is invited. It is announced that there will be important information regarding the Townsend national convention at Cleveland July 15 to 19.

MUSICAL AND DRAMA COMING TO STATE

"Music Is Magic" and "One Way Ticket" are the feature films which will be screened at Walker's State theater Wednesday and Thursday.

Allice Faye and Ray Walker are the stars of the first one, which is a musical romance that reveals some of the foibles of Hollywood, while Lloyd Nolan, Peggy Conklin, Walter Connolly and Edith Fellows are the principal players in the second film, which concerns the love affair of a prison guard's daughter with a young convict.

"Charlie Chan's Secret," with Warner Oland, and "Anything Goes," with Bing Crosby, Ethel Merman, Ida Lupino and Charlie Ruggles, show for the last times on the State program tonight.

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED BY CITY COUNCIL

A. H. Allen, for the past year, chairman of the forestry board; E. M. "Sunny" Sundquist and Rex Kennedy of the library board, were reappointed to their respective boards by Mayor Fred C. Rowland last night, with the reappointments unanimously affirmed by city council immediately.

Councilman Ernest Layton, explaining some of the hard work which Allen did in forestry board affairs during the past year, gave him high praise, as he moved to affirm the appointment. Thanks for their generous services also was extended Sundquist and Kennedy of the library board, as Plummer Bruns moved affirmation of the appointments. The men received full-term appointments.

SANTA ANA ASKED TO NAME OWN DAY AT FAIR IN TEXAS

"Nothing short of the merriest, most sophisticated twentieth century Whoopie" will be put on by the city of Fort Worth, Mayor Van Zandt Jarvis of that city, told Mayor Fred C. Rowland last night in a letter sent here to invite Santa Ana to name her "day" at the Frontier Centennial between July 1 and November 30.

"Fort Worth is 87 years old and she's having her 'coming out party' now that she's grown up," Mayor Jarvis stated. "The Centennial will depict the 'winning of the West' and if you will designate a day for your city, at our party, we will acquaint you with the liveliest hospitality in all Christendom. Is that a challenge?" Council ordered the invitation acknowledged.

TALBERT

TALBERT, June 16.—Mr. and Mrs. Louis Betschard entertained friends in their home over Tuesday night who came to attend the commencement exercises at Huntington Beach Union high school of which class Louis Betschard was a member. Mrs. Betschard's sister, Miss Mary Hill, of Ontario, came for a stay of several days and Mrs. M. Blatman and daughter, of Long Beach, joined them.

Attending a barbecue in the Louis Bader home in Los Angeles Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Giesler and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harpster and baby of Bakersfield who have been visiting local relatives for a few days; Mr. and Mrs. R. Marshall, Mrs. Sarah Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Allair and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Giesler.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Giesler, who have been spending a few weeks at Murietta Hot Springs returned home the first of the week but will return to the resort later.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

TO MY SON ON GRADUATION

In a few days I shall be mingling with other parents on the grounds of Grotton School as my son completes his years of discipline of mind and character there. Here are some things I should like to say to him then and again later when he completes his university years:

Be sure that you have standards of mind and character by which always to test the quality of your actions in the days to come, and see to it that these standards stay before you as a pillar of fire by night and of cloud by day.

Never allow yourself to be taken in by democracy when it becomes democratic or pontocracy when it goes piratical.

Hold yourself aloof from the allurements of both tyrannical majorities and buccannery minorities when the truth abides in neither.

Refuse your neck to the yoke of any dogmatic reaction and permit no one to tie you to the cart.

LA HABRA

LA HABRA, June 16.—Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Renkin and family are leaving soon for a visit in Iowa.

Mrs. Leslie Jones left Wednesday for a six weeks visit and vacation trip in Arkansas, where she will stay with her parents. Mrs. J. A. Scofield, Mrs. A. W. McBride and Mrs. N. M. Launer attended the Y. W. C. A. breakfast at the home of Mrs. Albert Launer in Fullerton Wednesday morning.

Mrs. M. A. Stearman and Mrs. Dewey Carson plan to leave Sunday for a month's visit with relatives in Kansas and Oklahoma.

SILVER ACRES

SILVER ACRES, June 16.—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rathke entertained at dinner Sunday at their home on Hazard street. Carnations and larkspur were used in decorating the table. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Davis and son, Donald Davis, of Santa Ana; Jacob Rathke, Harry Jessup, Louella and Evelyn Rathke and Mr. and Mrs. Rathke.

Sunday dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Van Kelsch were Mr. and Mrs. Amiel De Groot, of Irvine, Mr. and Mrs. John Dinkel, of Arcadia; Mrs. Emma Ryan, of Long Beach, and Harmon Van Kelsch.

Have You seen the Giant Boysenberry in Production?

Actual Size • Walter Knott invites you to visit his 50-acre berry field to see for yourself!

For the past two years we have been talking a lot about the Boysenberry. We have made a good many pretty strong claims about its great size; about the big crop it bears; and about its marvelous flavor. The best part of it all is that the actual facts show that we have been too modest in our claims.

The best way for you to get the real picture of what it would mean to you to have a row of Boysenberry plants on your place is to come out and see for yourself just how wonderful these berries really are.

Right now our Boysenberry vines are loaded down with big, luscious berries. It's an ideal time to see them. Drive out today, or this week, and let us take you out into the fields so you can sample fruit and see how easy it is to pick.

Then, stop in at our tea room and have a fresh piece of Boysenberry pie. You'll know then that we have been too modest in our claims and you'll be as enthusiastic about this sensational berry as we are.

Incidentally, these are the fields in which the Boysenberry was first developed. You can see the original planting from which the Boysenberry popularity grew.

You will see plantings that produced $1760.00 worth of fruit to the acre, even when prices were way down.

In addition to our Boysenberry fields, there are other features that may interest you. More than 30 varieties of berries can be seen on our 50-acre fields. We have our own roadside market; our own tea room where we serve berries in many forms, as well as real Southern chicken dinners. Judging by the number of people who come, it must be a very good place to eat.

And, if you should want to take something home with you, we have jams, jellies, juices and canned berries, put up in our own preserving kitchen. We also make fresh berry pies to take out as well as serving them with our dinners.

Our place is not far from almost any point in Los Angeles or Orange county. The map reproduced below will give you complete directions. We are located two miles from Buena Park on Grand Avenue, which is the main boulevard through the town. We are only 15 miles from Long Beach and 30 miles from Bakers and Newport. If you want to combine a trip to the beach with your visit to our place.

This is the ideal time for getting your supply of berries for canning and jellies. You will find every kind here—at their best. It's open house at Knott's Berry Place these next two weeks, and we are expecting you in come. There will be plenty of help around to answer all your questions and to show you whatever you want to see. This is our invitation to see this most wonderful berry of all in production.

ASKS COUNCIL CURB FOREIGN SPRAY DEALERS

Request of J. O. Gullidge of the Sprayers Supplies, 1428 West Fifth street, for a protective ordinance against non-established, outside sprayers who "flock in and canvas the city just before the two heavy spray seasons, get the cream of the business and disappear" gave the city council something to argue about for 20 minutes last night. The councilmen finally decided to ask City Atty. Lew Blodgett to find out whether an ordinance is necessary to control the situation.

"The spraying seasons for fruit and walnuts are short," Gullidge said, "and these outsiders rush in here with ridiculously low prices, using questionable ingredients in the spray they use and get the cream of business. We who are established here want relief from unfair competition."

Councilman Ernest Layton said he had investigated and learned that Gullidge's claim is correct. He moved that an ordinance be prepared by which the outsiders would be required to pay $10 a day for operating here, but upon the attorney's warning not to create a local monopoly and upon Mayor Fred C. Rowland's statement that local sprayers cannot handle all of the business during the rush periods, Layton withdrew his motion. It was pointed out such outsiders are supposed to pay $5 per day while operating here, anyhow. And $5 per day for the outsiders is the amount Gullidge suggested would protect the local sprayers, anyhow.

COUNCIL NOTES

On recommendation of the planning commission, permission was granted to the Unemployed Association of Santa Ana by city council last night, to continue its wood yard on the southwest corner of Stafford and Poinsettia streets, providing the planned six-foot board fence around the place, is erected at once. Councilman Plummer Bruns explained the wood is largely donated from such projects as the South Main widening where trees were removed and Rolland S. Shepherd, president of the unemployed group, in his official request, explained that proceeds from sale of the wood, went to buy groceries for the local needy.

Request of Charles (Jack) L. Bell for a permit to conduct an auction house for new and old merchandise, at 267 1-2 South Main, was referred to the city attorney and police commissioner by council last night. It was pointed out such permit granting might require special ordinance.

Ed Allan, 21, 423 East Pine, was granted permission by council last night, to drive for the Courtesey Cab company.

A new map of Santa Ana, prepared as a revision of a previous map, and the first new one in 10 years, was officially approved by city council last night. The map was prepared by the city engineer's office.

Members of Boy Scout Troop No. 24 were granted permission last night by city council to conduct sale of fireworks this year, for the holiday season, at Fourth and Ross, Second and Spurgeon and Washington and Main. Proceeds from the sale according to Scoutmaster F. P. Nickey, Jr., go to Ro-Ki-La camp resort. Motion to grant permission was made by Councilman William Penn, seconded by Plummer Bruns.

Dr. John McAluay's request for permission to move his office from 305 South Main to a residence and office location, 1319 North Broadway, was heard by city council last night. Hearing, as required by law, was set for July 6, and notices of the hearing were ordered posted, after the planning commission so recommended.

Announcing its annual campaign to raise funds will be carried on during the week of October 5, the Santa Ana Community Chest, through its secretary, Lorraine McMillan, last night asked city council to make an official plea to the people of the city to donate and to urge that no other appeals for funds be made during the Community Chest week. Council, on motion of Councilman Ernest Layton, granted the request "so far as it is within our power."

Wherein actions of the forestry board have been conflicting "by accident" with actions of the planning commission, and vice versa, a remedy shall be found, city council decided last night. The council instructed City Attorney Lew Blodgett and Councilman Ernest Layton to get their heads together, study the rules and regulations governing the forestry and planning bodies and set things right.

To keep the city up-to-date, City Building Inspector Sam Preble last night asked the city council to adopt the 1935 edition of the uniform building code as published by the Pacific Coast Builders' Conference. The city has been operating under the last uniform code edition—1930. Building is done here under the uniform code except in certain instances which relate peculiarly to Santa Ana conditions. Council ordered the city attorney to prepare the necessary resolution for adoption of the latest building code edition.

CITY DADS TO BE GUESTS AT PASADENA FETE

Emulating Santa Ana, the city of Pasadena is about to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of incorporation, the Pasadena board of directors informed city council last night.

Santa Ana councilmen accepted the invitation extended by Pasadena to attend the ceremonies, to be held in Rose Bowl June 19, at which time a pageant depicting "50 years of development" will be staged together with commencement exercises of Pasadena Junior college and the junior and senior high schools. Those who attend over here must announce their intentions by June 15. On June 3, Santa Ana celebrated its "50 years of progress" at Municipal Bowl, with lawn party and barbecue.

REQUESTS CHANGE FOR DANCE HALL

Finding it too noisy in the vicinity of the place he first wished to establish his dancing emporium on East Fourth street, near a couple of restaurants and a railroad crossing, E. Laurent last night asked city council for permit to establish the place at Getty's hall, East Fourth and Porter street. Council told him to go ahead with his plans, providing the police commissioner and police chief said "all right." They already had said "all right." Laurent formerly operated the dances at K. of P. hall, Fifth and Broadway. He wants to run the dances for local Mexicans, each Saturday night.

Council Asked To Keep Museum Open More Days

The three days per week of the "open" schedule of Charles W. Bowers Memorial museum is not broad enough to satisfy Keith E. Hoffmaster, he informed city council last night. "Many of us are barred from visiting the interesting place because of our work," he said. "How about letting the common people in on the fun? If the crowds are too large, a ticket system similar to the one used at Huntington library might be used." On motion of Councilman Joe Smith, council asked the Museum board to consider Hoffmaster's plea and to report back to council, its decision.

HOLD W. R. C. PARTY

MIDWAY CITY, June 16.—The William A. Smalley Woman's Relief corps, with Mrs. Charles Carlson, president, acting as hostess chairman, gave a card party as a corps benefit at L. O. O. F. hall in Westminster recently. Mrs. Bertha Schmidt received first prize in bridge and was also winner of the door prize. Benjamin Uphan won first prize for men. Mrs. Gladys McDonald second for women. Mr. and Mrs. LaDew second for men. In "500," C. H. Schross won men's first and Mrs. Alfred Nilander second for men and Mrs. Schross second for women.

It was announced that on June 24 the corps will hold a dance at Old Fellows hall.

Hankey Tells Of Church Meeting

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, June 14.—Carl H. Hankey, delegate from the San Juan Capistrano Community church, who attended the general assembly of the Presbyterian churches held in Syracuse, N. Y., gave an outline of the week's session which he attended during the hour for the regular church services Sunday morning.

Hankey stated that the Presbyterian churches are in fine condition and plan to send additional missionaries to foreign fields this year.

Mary Elise Hankey, who accompanied her father to New York, spoke at the young people's Christian Endeavor society meeting Sunday evening, using moving pictures to illustrate her talk.

Church Supper Held Wednesday

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, June 16.—David T. Prenter, superintendent of the Sunday school, announces that the church supper, which was originally scheduled for tonight, will be given tomorrow night at the Community Presbyterian church, with Mrs. H. S. Barnes in charge.

RAY ADKINSON IS HONORED BY ALUMNI GROUP

Elected in balloting among Pomona College alumni in all corners of the world, Ray Adkinson, County Superintendent of Schools of Orange County, this week was chosen a member of the college alumni council, according to reports from the Claremont campus.

Adkinson, who lives at 1505 North Main street, graduated from Pomona in the class of 1918. As a member of the college alumni council he will play an important role in graduate activity at Pomona.

Official announcement of the local man's election was made at the annual Pomona College Alumni Day held last Saturday in Claremont. It was also announced at that time that Edward T. Bishop, Los Angeles Superior Court Judge, would succeed A. T. Richardson, editor of the Pomona Progress-Bulletin, as president of Pomona's Alumni Association for a two year term.

Adkinson will serve as council member for a similar two year term.

PRIZES AWARDED TO TWO STUDENTS

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, June 16.—High honors were bestowed upon Earl Reeder and Hilda Haven by the faculty of the Capistrano Union High school when an award of $25 in cash was presented to each of the two students.

The prizes, which are donated by a prominent Capistrano citizen, are given to the high school boy and girl who are outstanding in popularity and scholastic ability. Besides the cash award and a certificate of merit, Reeder won third place in the Smith-Hughes Vocational home building project, when he entered his exhibit, representing the Capistrano High school, among 26 other schools and 144 boys participating in the contest.

THEY TAKE KITCHEN SINK VANCOUVER, B. C. (UP)—Canada's most brazen thief has been found here. Shortly after Paul Barre opened his hardware store, the thief entered and stole a kitchen sink. A few hours later he returned and offered to sell it back to Barre.

HOLLYWOOD.—Why doubles? What reason for hiring stunt men to sub for stars when dangerous scenes are to be filmed? It is not because producers want to spare the bones of stars, because many a producer would enjoy nothing more than to see some of his dear stars break their necks, bless them. No, Doubles are employed purely for the sake of protecting the investment represented by the star. Studios cannot risk something happening to a player in the middle of a picture, so when scenes entailing physical danger are necessary, the yell goes out for a stunt man.

These doubles are paid from fifty to twelve hundred and fifty dollars per stunt. As you may have guessed, the more death defying the act, the greater the remuneration; $1,250 is the price for a nose dive in an airplane. The price of nosedives, by the way, has gone from $500 to $1,250 within five years. That is because most of the daredevils who have hired out for this particular stunt never lived to spend the money. The few that are left are asking plenty—and getting it—for wrestling with death.

Out on a major lot a few days ago, a producer and a director were discussing a dangerous scene. "I wish," muttered the director who had been having grief with a temperamental star, "that John Blank could do this stunt himself." "Why, he might be killed!" exclaimed the Big Boss. "Yeah," sighed the director, "I was thinking that."

Quotes and comments: Anita Louise, (newspaper interview) in answer to "What is your opinion of peace and war?": "Oh, I think peace is sooooo nice." Such remarks start wars.

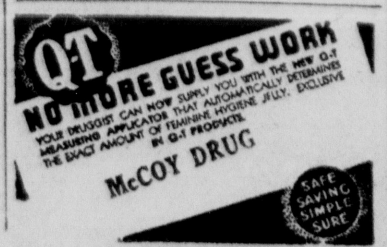

"The public forgets you, and why shouldn't they?" (Dolores Costello Barrymore, in a studio press blurb). Perhaps they don't forget—maybe they just cannot forgive past performances.

From a studio blurb: "Bruce Cabot is driving to Carlsbad, New Mexico, to visit relatives and rest." Something wrong with that statement.

From two separate stories quoting Warren William: (1) "The only thing you'll get by coming out to my house is a good lunch." (2) "Anywhere from a dozen to fifty people drop in on me every Sunday." That's Hollywood, Warren—hungry Hollywood!

Score up the good deed of the week to the credit of Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy. Two young extras who were working in these comedians' latest had been trying for weeks to amass the few dollars necessary for marriage. Their double-call turned the trick, and the kids went away over the weekend and agreed to love, honor and—well, Hollywood ceremonies do not contain the promise to obey, so theirs emitted it. Stan and Oliver, when they heard of the marriage, marched together to the front office and suggested that the studio, as a wedding gift, employ the bride and groom throughout the picture. The studio complied, and the newly-weds earned enough money to set them up in light housekeeping. And here is the payoff, if you please: Fully a dozen young couples have applied for extra work in the next Laurel-Hardy comedy. All plan to marry during production!

NUT GROWERS IN FIELD DAY NEXT FRIDAY

Annual field day for Orange county walnut growers will be held at the Thornburg orchard near Olive next Friday morning at 9 o'clock, it was announced today by Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg.

All growers will find something of interest on the program, Wahlberg said, because of the range of timely subjects to be presented.

The program will include a discussion of the latest developments in walnut fertilization by Lee Braucher, of the experiment station; a talk on the walnut pest control situation in Orange county by D. W. Tubbs, agricultural commissioner; recommendations for summer irrigation in the walnut orchard and demonstration of soil tests in the orchard by Wahlberg; the walnut crop and price situation by A. W. Christie, California Walnut Growers association; a report of the activities of the Farm Bureau Walnut Department by Rufus Porter, chairman. A large attendance is expected from all parts of the county because of the importance of the program subjects. All walnut growers are invited to attend.

The Thornburg orchard is located about one-half mile west of Olive on the Anaheim-Olive road. Here the growers will be given an opportunity to see walnut trees that have been fertilized two years with nitrogen material.

DINNER HELD BY BREA CLUB GROUP

BREA, June 16.—Approximately 200 persons were served at the turkey dinner given recently by the Brea Townsend club in the Christian church. Invocation was given by the Rev. B. H. Blanchard, prayer by the Rev. Frank V. Stipp and the welcome by Mrs. L. R. Thwing, president of the club. R. O. Williams led in the singing of hymns, with Miss Carrie Drake of Yorba Linda at the piano.

The Rev. Joe Nation, Baptist minister of Long Beach, spoke on "Save America." Blanchard has been delegated to represent the Brea club at the second national convention, which is being held in Cleveland on July 15, 16 and 17. Harry Riley was a guest and spoke briefly. Miss Drake announced a box social which is being given by Yorba Linda club on June 22 in the Methodist church there. Miss Drake will be a delegate from Yorba Linda and the affair is being sponsored to raise funds to assist in defraying her expenses.

Mrs. Thwing presented Louis

Diharce and A. Beadle of Santa Ana, who favored with accordion duets, playing "La Golondrina" and "Missouri Waltz."

Mrs. Roy Wheeler was the chairman in charge of the dinner and Mrs. W. C. Churchill had charge of the dining room.

Timeplan installment financing meets your every loan requirement

"Timeplan" is the copyrighted name which describes all of the various types of installment credit loans with which Bank of America meets the financial needs of the individual. Remember the name "Timeplan"—remember, too, that when you establish your credit at Bank of America by making a Timeplan loan for any purpose, you have established your credit once and for all for making additional Timeplan loans for other financial needs. Timeplan assures you of completely confidential service. Repayment terms are arranged to fit your income.

Real Estate Loans
from 1 to 20 years

Under the National Housing Act you may borrow to buy or build a home, any amount from $1000 to $16,000 (up to 80% of appraised value of both lot and improvements, as determined by FHA appraisal). EXAMPLE: If appraised value of house and lot is $5,000, you may borrow up to $4,000. Monthly payments on a 15-year loan are approximately $42, including taxes, insurance, interest and repayment of principal.

Automobile Financing
(new or used cars)

Bank of America Timeplan automobile financing brings you a low cost plan for the purchase of a new or used car (not over 3 years old). All arrangements are made with the Bank. You are assured of the lowest financing cost. The plan provides for insurance which protects you, arranged, if you wish, through your own insurance broker or agent.

Personal Loans
$50 to $1000

The Bank of America personal loan plan is a convenient source of funds for the payment of taxes, insurance premiums, hospital, medical or dental bills, or for meeting any legitimate emergency. Any employed individual of good character may apply for Timeplan personal loan. The cost of a Timeplan personal loan is exactly $6 per year for each $100 borrowed. You receive the full amount of the loan you require—there are no deductions. Repayment may be made within one year in monthly installments.

Home Appliance Financing
(through authorized dealers)

This Timeplan financing is arranged for the convenience of the purchaser entirely through the store or dealer to finance the deferred balance on the purchase of refrigerators, ironers, washing machines and other designated appliances. These loans are completed in the store when the purchase is made and they give you all the advantages of bank credit with repayment arranged in convenient monthly sums.

Modernization Loans
under F.H.A.

Timeplan modernization loans, under the provisions of F.H.A., enable the borrower to name the maturity of his loan from 1 to 5 years. Timeplan modernization loans cover the repair, alteration, and modernization of homes, apartments, stores and farm buildings. Rates are the lowest available. Repayment is arranged in monthly sums.

TRAILER HOME
FOR BARNHILLS
NOW FINISHED

BY MALCOLM BOSTWICK

The most neatly, completely furnished home of its size in Santa Ana was open for inspection today to the friends of California Highway Patrol Officer Vernon Barnhill and Mrs. Barnhill. It weighs just 1940 pounds, boasts floor dimensions of 80 inches by 18 feet and has "everything," including a strong chassis to carry it from here to there and back again.

Made to order, on plans designed by Mr. and Mrs. Barnhill, the aluminum-covered automobile trailer will be trailing out of Santa Ana today or tomorrow behind the Barnhill car, en route to San Juan Hot Springs on its maiden voyage. "Barney," as the highway patrol officer is known familiarly, and who completes 15 years of active service in the Orange county unit of the California Highway Patrol on August 6, as the unit's oldest member in point of service here, is initiating the new home on his annual two-weeks' vacation, just starting.

Permanent Home
The trailer was designed as a beautiful, convenient, permanent home for the Barnhills and its two weeks' jaunt is only the beginning of its association with the couple. Its construction was completed by Lewis Shaver of Midway City, who ended the job with a flourish which left implanted in the "front door," a richly designed "old English" "peep-hole" and knocker.

When the Barnhills, who have recently lived at 120 East Main street, return to the Santiago Auto camp on North Main to settle down in the luxury of their home-on-wheels, to which they are rapidly becoming accustomed.

Luxury? Here's why: The home has accommodations for four with a regular-size box-spring bed; large clothes closet; space beneath the bed for luggage, spreads and blankets; vanity dresser adjacent to the bed, for Mrs. Barnhill; arrangement so that closet and shower room doors, when open, serve to close off the rear of the home as a boudoir; shower room with chemical lavatory.

Many Conveniences
Three-burner gasoline stove, hidden when not in use; a "fruit cellar"; aluminum-lined ice box; spice cupboard; sugar bin; flour bin; knife cupboard; bread box; dish cupboard; pantry cupboards; medicine chest; sewing cabinet; ironing board; radio and hinged dining table with extra, clothes space at each end of dining table; three mirrors; 30-gallon water tank beneath bed from which water is pumped into porcelain sink by use of nickel-plated hand pump.

Then there's a 47-pound, six-volt motor which furnishes electric lights when city connections are not available and a second circuit to connect with the usual 110-volt municipal systems found in auto camps and other modern conveniences; two sets of roof ventilators; eight windows and two portholes; airspace between the aluminum covering, which reflects the sun, and the inner walls; four courtesy lights; airbrakes which operate from the automobile seat. The inside is a pleasant ivory color, trimmed in black and window-draped with monk's cloth on brass curtain rods. To the Barnhills, it's "a cottage small by a waterfall"—any waterfall their fancy leads them to. A "home on the range"—any range.

MAJOR RAGON DIES
AT HOME IN L. B.

Van Leonard Brown, commander of Jack Fisher chapter, D.A.V., Mrs. Dean Laub, commander of Jack Fisher auxiliary, with Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Mary Fisher and Mrs. Harry D. Edwards, were in Long Beach yesterday for services for the late Major Edward Ragon whose death occurred suddenly Friday in his Long Beach home. Major Ragon was well known in this city where he was a frequent guest of Jack Fisher chapter, accompanying his wife on her official visits here as state commander of the D.A.V. auxiliary. He was a veteran of both the Spanish American war and the World war, and was prominent in practically all the veterans' organizations of Long Beach. Services were at the Hud-die and Bonwell funeral home, where attendance was so great that four full rows of seats were reserved for chapter commanders alone. Services were followed by cremation.

WILL OBSERVE
FATHER'S DAY
HERE SUNDAY

Father's Day will occur this year on June 21, the customary third Sunday of the month. It will be observed not only throughout the United States and Canada but in other countries as well. The spread in popularity of the observance of this event has been marked since its inception in 1910 when Mrs. John Bruce Dodd of Spokane, Washington, first conceived the idea.

Despite some skepticism regarding the event and the natural embarrassment on the part of some parents to have a special day set aside for them, it has become an accepted day of honor for fathers of at least two nations. Its importance this year is considerably greater for several reasons. The chief reason is that most fathers will deserve recognition for having carried on for almost four years of economic hardship. Another, that at last fathers and all the remainder of the family have some cause for encouragement and a much brighter outlook for the months to come.

Some of the original plans or customs first observed on the day are either maintained or are remembered. One was the wearing of a red rose for fathers still living and a white rose for those who had died. Family reunions have become a part of the day's observance in some sections of the country.

Became Custom
Gradually the idea of a present or a gift became an accepted custom in every section of the nation. The things that a man wears, or that he likes, were thought appropriate as gifts. This year there is a move to make those gifts of a high character and value, the better to reflect the affection of those who remember, to their fathers.

There had been many discussions concerning which date should be regularly chosen for Father's Day. A climax to this discussion occurred in 1921 when a conference was held, a day chosen—the third Sunday of each June—and that day has since been widely accepted.

Father's Day has been recorded in the Patent Office in Washington, and has become a real national holiday. It is the one day

LOCAL POLITICAL SITUATION
REVIEWED BY "GUEST WRITER"

By TED STEPHENSON

Paul Vissman, author, founder and perpetrator of "Vissman's Political Fumblings," has decided to have guest writer do his column. Just this once, anyway.

"Columbus took a chance," Vissman declared, "and if radio stars can have guest artists, why can't I have a guest writer do his column."

In making his decision, the master mind of political fiction announced he would not have anything to do with the contents of the column. In other words, the guest writer is the goat if anything should be said that would cast reflections on Vissman's standing in the profession.

To begin with, Congressman Sam Collins hailed into town yesterday. His first move was to send his secretary around to see County Clerk Joe Backs for the purpose of taking out papers for nomination on the Republican ticket for congress.

He did not call for papers on the Democratic slate. There's still time, however, Sam is the lone wolf in the Republican barn and the principal thorn in the Democratic bouquet.

And, brother, it is a bouquet. Just take a look at the line-up. Ray Adkinson, dyed in the wool Bourbon, running a tough race for the Democratic nomination.

N. E. West, another Democrat with congressional aspirations, who has several galleries of free publicity chalked up during recent months. James L. Davis, not announced yet, but still considered a threat, especially by the two mentioned above.

Two Seek Job

Up in the northern end of the district, now, we have at least two who are gunning for Congressman Sam's job. Harry Sheppard, San Bernardino, recently received the endorsement of the congressional district Townsends, and these same Townsends are set on electing someone sympathetic to their cause. We also have Joe Seymour, Riverside Democrat, who is building numerous fences throughout the district.

J. H. Walsh, Costa Mesa, has been toyed with the idea of entering the race. He was among those considered at the recent Townsend conclave in Riverside, but fell short of winning their individual approval.

All in all, the political fumbling of a few months ago are settling down to a steady roar. Wait till they start shooting the big guns—then's when the fun will begin. So far, it's just been rifle fire with occasional minor skirmishes.

Of course, the race for congress is one of great interest, but from all indications, it will be just a scuffle when compared with the battles that will be waged in the first and third supervisorial districts.

Seas Unsettled Seas
Bill Jerome, supervisor of the first district, and an experienced campaigner if there ever was one, can see nothing but unsettled seas ahead. So far, the course is uncharted, and some of the hazards to be encountered include Sam Preble, Pauline M. Collins, J. A. Cranston, Steele Finley and Walter R. Robb.

Supervisor LeRoy Lyon, third district, isn't finding the sailing any easier. Some of those who are huffing and puffing in an attempt to blow the sails loose from the raft are S. James Tuffree, W. J. Carmichael and Harry D. Riley.

Speculators can have a lot of fun in trying to pick the winner in the 75th district assembly race, northern Orange county. Take a look at this lineup from the Bourbon farm: Robert Hatfield, James H. Heffron, H. O. Horton, and W. O. Eades. The Republicans are in the battle too, with L. P. Nichols, and Thomas Kuchel.

Now take this race for assembly in the 74th district. There are two candidates, and both have filed on the Democratic and Republican tickets. The year when most of the family attention can and should be centered about the bread earner and the man who has struggled and will struggle further to maintain his household. Most fathers ask little. Most are over-conscious of affection directed at them. Perhaps the better way to express that affection is through some small gift or remembrance.

That should be interesting. Republican Jimmy Gitt has followed in the footsteps of Congressman Sam and taken out papers for nomination on the Bourbon slate. Democrat Clyde Watson has pulled the same stunt in reverse fashion. Watson is former mayor of Orange, and Jimmy is the incumbent assemblyman from the 74th district.

Senatorial Race
There's only one more race, and this one is going to be a tough one. Republican State Senator Nelson Edwards withdrew his name from the lists, leaving the field wide open, and candidates for the position are pouring in.

Carrying the GOP banners, we have Joe Smith, Santa Ana city councilman, and former state real estate commissioner, who gives promise of a good battle. Then there's Tom McFadden, fiery Anaheim Republican, and Dr. C. G. Huston of Costa Mesa. Two Democrats have entered the arena so far, Byron Bostick, Anaheim, and Attorney Harry Westover, Santa Ana.

Well, Vissman, I don't think I've done your reputation too much damage.

The central committee race? Oh yes, it nearly slipped my mind.

Well, Vissman, it's this way. Four years ago the county Democrats were stepping all over each other's toes trying to make the grade. This year they don't seem so interested. Maybe, it's just possible you understand. Ham Cotton might be able to tell you why.

CITY COUNCIL
LICENSES ICE
CREAM WAGONS

Ice cream didn't agree with city council last night. The city Dads spent 15 minutes considering requests of H. E. Erickson, Majestic Ice Cream company, and R. C. Story, ice cream purveyor of 303 West Fourth street, for permission to operate ice cream push carts about the city streets this summer and finally sent the communications back to City Clerk Ed Vegelys with the understanding he was to do the permission granting as he usually does in similar cases.

Erickson wants to push four carts—Story, two.

"I'd object to this cart operating in the residential area if my kids weren't all gone," said Councilman Smith. He intimated he knew what kids like in the summertime. "Anyhow a business should be on an established lot, I think."

"Take that attitude and what are you going to do with all the vegetable trucks, bakery wagons, escalators grinders, etc.?" Councilman Bruns asked. "Seems to me you're just trying to penalize these men for bringing their requests here."

Councilman Penn moved to postpone action and to refer the ice cream carting problem to the planning commission, city attorney and city clerk. He withdrew his motion.

SETTLED CITRUS PICKING DIFFICULTY

Pictured below is the crew of 19 women who went into the field from the packing house to pick lemons on the Hewes ranch in 1919, to stop the "resting" of men pickers who slowed up the packing work. High wages of that time caused the men to work a few days, and then lay off a few days. The women workers cured the labor trouble on the ranch.

"REST" OF LEMON PICKERS
ENDED BY WOMEN IN 1919

An editorial in The Register last Saturday entitled "Women Working," brought a communication from D. Eymann Huff, manager of the Hewes ranch, in which he lauded the editor for the article and revealed that in 1919 a "rest" of lemon pickers on his ranch was ended when the women went into the fields to pick the fruit.

"In 1919 when wages were so high they had the right to do as they please about it," Huff writes. "As I stated before we have had no trouble whatever with pickers, either of oranges or lemons since 1919 on the Hewes ranch, and do not expect to have; but this might give an idea to some other localities."

"So one day they asked me if they might stop this resting business and with my permission they went into boots and britches and went into the field."

"They proved to be excellent pickers, knowing full well that they would have to throw out when they went into the house to grade and pack it out."

"They would pick a grove and then go into the house and work it up—then out into the field to pick again."

"They kept this up until they began to really like it and the men realized that they were more than likely to lose their jobs for good. The Hewes ranch has had no trouble with pickers since."

"This is not a pose in the picture I am enclosing. These were real pickers in 1919; and if it worked then (and it certainly did work) I can see no reason why it should not be tried again. If men cannot work, or will not work, certainly women should at least try."

When Councilman Layton suggested they send the two requests back to the city clerk and Layton's suggestion was accepted. The ice cream carting should begin anytime, now.

LA HABRA

LA HABRA, June 16.—Mr. and Mrs. Steve Smith and son, Steve, are spending several weeks at the home of Mr. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Smith, on Central avenue. Mr. Smith was transferred from Bakersfield to the Long Beach territory and they will establish their home here later on.

The Junior Girls' auxiliary to the La Habra Woman's Improvement club will hold installation ceremonies at the clubhouse Wednesday afternoon and will close their activities for the year with a dance at the clubhouse that evening at 9 o'clock.

SALE OF LOTS
CONSIDERED BY
CITY COUNCIL

NEWPORT BEACH, June 16.—Sale of 275 lots in the Corona Del Mar section to a private holding company, was considered last night at a meeting of the city council.

The properties considered in the proposed transaction were recently taken over by the city because of tax delinquencies.

In considering the plan, the city is attempting to return the properties to the tax rolls. Those who purchase the lots must agree to pay all assessments. All back taxes on the properties will be waived.

A matter relative to the deeding of a strip of land belonging to the city, to the county, located in the tideland section recently built up as a result of dredging operations, was referred to the planning commission for consideration. It is proposed to construct a road along the strip in question, parallel to the road now running along the base of the cliffs just north of Harbor island.

BOODIN TO BE SPEAKER FOR JAYSEE EVENT

The Santa Ana Junior college commencement will be held Thursday at 4 p. m. in Birch park with Dr. John E. Boodin of the University of California at Los Angeles scheduled to speak on the subject "Man's Place in the Universe."

Dr. Boodin's prestige in the field of philosophy is attested by the fact that his name appears in the index of practically all outstanding books in this field published in the last 10 or 15 years. It is common to find such comments as this: "As Boodin says."

Boodin's approach to the problems of existence is metaphysical, that is to say, he insists that in order to understand the practical and concrete "facts" of experience, we must see them in the light of a background if we are to get their real significance. In this, of course, he is a loyal follower of the great Greeks, who he says "seem to offer the most fruitful approach to the problems of today."

Dr. Boodin's books are as follows: "Time and Reality," published in 1904; "Truth and Reality," 1911; "A Realistic Universe," first edition in 1931, revised edition in 1934; "God and Creation," 1934; "Three Interpretations of the Universe," 1935; "God," 1935.

He has been a frequent contributor to the Hibbert Journal, published at Oxford University, England, conceded to be the world's outstanding journal in philosophy. Almost every journal of importance in philosophy, ethics and religion has published articles by him.

NIGHT SHOOTING TESTS
ARCHERS

OAKLAND, Cal. (UP).—The Greenwood Archers of this city have launched night archery as a new sport. Night contests have developed that the yew bows are more active under cool night conditions and aiming must be appreciably lower than in daytime.

Five piers were granted to private concerns last night. Two of them will be built by Smith brothers and used for commercial purposes. The other three will be built by Paul Howard, J. R. Fouch and G. H. Crawford.

The council passed an ordinance raising the registration fees of plasters within the corporate city limits from $25 per year to $100 annually, and at the same time lowered license fees of plumbers from $100 to $25 annually.

Club Hostess Resumes Assistance League Party Series

Despite the fact that Mrs. James Irvine's plans for the semi-monthly meetings of Assistance League club are so well organized that the parties continue during her frequent absences in the north, there is so much added zest when she is present in her post as hostess, that members approach the luncheons with double the amount of interest.

Yesterday's hospitality in the San Joaquin ranch home of the Irvines, was especially enjoyable, as it gave club members opportunity to greet Mrs. Irvine, so recently returned from San Francisco.

There is always a bit of anticipation of the decorative effects achieved and yesterday's guests were intrigued by the mid-summer charm of delicate pink and amethyst water lilies floating in a sea-blue bowl. Amethyst glass used with this flower motif, was doubly effective.

Mrs. Richard Couden and Mrs. Lester Couden were present from the official substitute list, completing the table groupings for contrast in the afternoon.

Birthday Honors Paid Long Time Resident By Family Circle

No happier celebration of a birthday anniversary could be devised than that given Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Lyman S. Gittings, 1548 Willits street, to the 76th birthday anniversary of Mrs. Gittings' father, W. S. Lee.

In honor of the event, Mrs. Gittings had called together members of the family circle for a gala dinner, for which the shady garden at the rear of the home, offered ideal setting. In preparation for the four course dinner served, the hostess baked a 25-pound ham among other appetizing dishes provided, and decorated a large home-made cake with 76 birthday candles.

This cake was one of four which complimented Mr. Lee, his wife having baked one equally delicious, as had Mrs. Francis Sherman and Mrs. Arthur Lee. Other gifts more lasting in form were presented him, and the day was made one of true family joys.

Mrs. Gittings was assisted in preparations and in serving dinner and the Sunday night supper for which guests lingered, by her daughters, Miss Lorna Gittings of the home and Mrs. Sherman, Talmann, who were just at the perfection of their blooming in the garden. Carnations, scabiosa, gladioli and many other varieties of flowers were used within the home.

Mississippi was the native state of the birthday celebrant, but his home for the past 39 years has been in Santa Ana where he and Mrs. Lee live at 709 Lacy street. Their son, Vernon Lee, was the only absent member of the immediate family circle Sunday.

The guest group included with the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Gittings, Miss Lorna Gittings of the home, and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Sherman; the honor guest, Mr. Lee and Mrs. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Lee of Torrance; Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Lee of Pomona with their children, Mona, Robert, Dixie, Marjorie and Burns; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lee and daughter and son, Frances and Harold, of Los Angeles, and son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lee Jr., of Pomona, with Mrs. Lee's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Crane of Los Angeles, and the Rev. and Mrs. Elsworth A. Archer of this city.

Enderle Home Opened For Delightful Afternoon Tea

Expressing the welcome which awaited Mr. and Mrs. Edward Adams upon their arrival late the past week from Corvallis, Ore., was the delightful tea-musical at which Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Enderle were hosts Sunday afternoon in their Yorba street home. Mrs. Enderle (Harriet Owens) and Mrs. Adams (Clara Kate Owens) are sisters, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Owens, 214 Owens Drive.

Many of the flowers which graced the home were from interested friends including a third member of the popular "Owens Sisters," Mrs. Horace J. Howard (Kathleen Owens) who provided pastries and margarites. Mrs. M. Burr Wellington sent gladioli in striking yellow and bronze shades.

Young Sons Assist
Guests were admitted by the two young sons of the home, Wallace and Allan Enderle, to be received by Mrs. Enderle, gowned in smart dotted swiss in navy blue with touches of red, and wearing white gardenias, and her sister and honor guest, Mrs. Adams in rust red flat crepe with which she wore Tallman roses.

Mrs. L. J. Owens presided at the tea table and wore an afternoon gown of blue flat crepe with deep red roses. Assisting her was Miss Ruth Owens, wearing pink rispods with her ice green frock. Mrs. John A. Tessmann, in floral patterned silk with Tallman roses, assisted throughout the rooms. Mrs. Howard, who was to have filled a similar office, was unable to be present because of a sudden attack of influenza.

Music was provided by Holly Lash, soprano, and Ruth Armstrong, pianist. Mrs. Visel wore gardenias with her smart tunic costume of white organdy and black crepe, and Tallman roses completed Miss Armstrong's costume of jade green lace.

Mrs. Visel sang two solo groups, including in her first selection, "Dawn" (Ernest Charles), "River Boats" (Manning) and "White Horses of the Sea" (Warren). Later in the afternoon she sang "Nur wer die Sehnsucht kennt" (Tschalkowsky) and "At the Well," the Hageman setting for Tabor's beautiful poem.

When Mrs. Owens took the place awaiting her at the tea table, it was to preside at a silver service lent additional charm by the mound of pastries centering the lace cloth, their golden tones accented by yellow candles flickering in silver candlesticks.

Special Anniversary
Although guests outside the family circle were unaware of it, the day also gave observance to the birthday anniversary of the hostess, so was especially interesting to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Owens, and Mrs. Enderle's father, Herman Enderle, and others in the immediate family group, the complimented pair, Mr. and Mrs. Adams, Dr. and Mrs. Horace Howard and their children, Miss Ruth Owens, Claude Owens and the two sons of the home, Wallace and Allan Enderle. The guest list included also Messrs. and Mesdames M. Burr Wellington, Alan A. Revell, E. T. McFadden, Nelson Visel, Ernest Thomas Phillips, Leland Auer, C. H. Glenn, Allan Vaughn, Elston, May, Louise Tubbs, Marjorie Bruner, Ruth Armstrong, Mrs. Harvey Smith, Mrs. Paul Bailey, Messrs. Ernest Stump and Dick Phillips.

Co-Hostesses Join In Complimenting Bride-elect

Mrs. James J. Smith's home on Tustin avenue was setting for a bridal shower recently when she and Mrs. Bert Miles of Anaheim joined in complimenting Miss Evelyn Long of Garden Grove, fiancée of William Gwaltney of Norwalk.

Games were played during the evening, at the close of which Miss Long was showered with gifts. Ice cream, cake and chocolate were served.

In the group with the bride-elect and the two hostesses were Mesdames Frank Butler, Los Angeles; Winnie Long, Jess Long, Arthur Lindley, Eliza Guss, Tenny Pritchard, J. M. O. P. Bunyard and Roy Pollock, Anaheim; Mary Hansen, Archie Stuck and Ray Long, Garden Grove; Theresa Watry, Fullerton; Dr. R. Nimmo and Orin Smith, Orange; Wray Humphrey, Roland Rabe, Gale Harmon, F. B. Smith and Gertrude Lamb, Santa Ana; Edward Squires and Mary Franzen, Tustin; Richard Taylor, Alhambra; and the Misses Mary Lindley, Anaheim; Vera Rhase Long, Garden Grove; Bertie Belle and Marguerite Smith, Orange; Nevada Nimmo and Alice Baines, Corona del Mar.

Success Attends Plan Of Ebell Group for Garden Bridge

If Thursday Night Literature section members of Ebell society continue along the lines set by their first formal entertaining of Saturday afternoon, they bid fair to become one of the most valuable sections of the club.

For as garden party hostesses, they achieved an outstanding success when they received approximately 150 guests at a gala affair staged in the beautiful gardens of the Emrys D. White home, 2115 North Broadway, Tuesday.

Placed in the dappled lights and shadows on the grass, shaded when necessary, by vivid umbrellas. Hostesses and guests, in smart frocks in every rainbow tint, were part of the decorative effect against the background of greenery. One of the most attractive features of the garden setting was a jacaranda tree which lifted its blue petals on the grass, some of them catching in the leaves of an evergreen, like bright Christmas bangles.

Mrs. Henry S. Williams, section leader, received the guests, aided by Mrs. White and by other members, especially those who had served as chairmen of the various committees. These included Mrs. R. B. Bason, general chairman; Mrs. Cassius Paul, tickets; Mrs. Lynn Crawford, table decorations; Mrs. E. F. Bruning, prizes; Mrs. Aubrey Gilman, score pads and tallies; Mrs. Clifford Quisell and Mrs. Kenneth Ranney, refreshments, and Mrs. Lily Mitchell, publicity.

Admiring comment was made on the colorful tally cards and which had been made by Mrs. Gilman. Table decorations for the tea hour found equal approval, the flowered paper covers and napkins matched by low pottery bowls of blossoms. These were presented as rewards to those making high scores at the various tables.

Ice cream roll, icebox cookies, candies and coffee were served by Mrs. Quisell and Mrs. Ranney with the assistance of section members.

Mrs. Howard Shugart, with high score, received a handsome silver-encrusted sugar and cream set. A pair of Sheffield bonbon shells rewarded Mrs. Robert Low for scoring second high, while the lucky prize won by Mrs. John B. Mitchell, was a handsome table lamp.

Thirty-five tables were in play, but many additional tables were sold so that the youthful matrons comprising this recently formed section will have a nice sum as their annual gift to the society.

Surprise Party

Festivities were in order recently when little Miss Elizabeth Randall became nine years old and found that she was honored at a surprise birthday party in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Randall, 408 East Twentieth street.

The celebrant's sister, Miss Jean Ann Randall, aided in carrying out all plans for the party. Games were played for part of the afternoon. Prettily appointed tables were placed in the yard for a refreshment interval during which candle-lit birthday cake was served with ice cream and other dainties. Elizabeth was presented with gifts.

Present in addition to Elizabeth and Jean Ann Randall were Ruth Marie Lauderbach, Joanne Louise Robinson, Marilyn Hillyard, Carla Jo Mock, Virginia Ross, Betty Vernon.

Sisters Exchange Vows With Former College Classmates

Sisters were wedded to two former La Verne college classmates Sunday afternoon at a double wedding when Miss Miriam Stover became the bride of Cleo Beery of Empire, Calif., and Miss Helen Stover exchanged vows with Earl Royer of Anaheim. The brides are daughters of the late W. B. Stover and of Mrs. Stover, 417 West Walnut street, Santa Ana.

La Verne Church of the Brethren was setting for the ceremony, read at 4 o'clock by the Rev. Herman B. Landis of this city. Gladioli and many other flowers were used in decorating.

Mrs. Strietzel of San Dimas was at the organ, playing several selections in addition to accompaniment for the other musicians. They were Robert Walker of Bakersfield, who gave violin solos; the bride's brother, J. E. Stover of Virden, Ill., who sang; and Winston Richards of Chino, who sang. J. E. Stover and Daniel Stover of Santa Ana gave their sisters in marriage. The brides wore identical gowns of white satin, with finger tip veils and bouquets of roses. Mrs. Fred Brunk of La Verne, wearing pink, and Miss Catherine Steele of Pasadena, wearing blue, were attendants, with Mr. Brunk and Clarence Royer, brother of Earl Royer, as best men.

Little Miss Joan Corbett, wearing a fluffy white frock, scattered rose petals in the paths of the sisters. Master Arthur Brown of Anaheim bore two rings on a pillow.

There were eight ushers for the ceremony, which was attended by friends from various points in California as well as from other states. Some of the 500 invitations issued were sent to such far-away points as western India, where the late Mr. Stover and Mrs. Stover were missionaries for 28 years with the Church of the Brethren. Miriam was born in the United States while her parents were on furlough, and Helen was born in India.

Reception
Miller hall of La Verne college was setting for the reception, during which bride and bridegroom cakes were served with fruit punch.

The new Mrs. Beery donned a navy blue suit, and Mrs. Royer a green suit, for their honeymoon trip of unannounced destination. Mr. and Mrs. Royer did reveal that they expect to take a leisurely camping trip, probably going as far north as Yosemite. In the fall Mr. Royer will resume his teaching in Fremont school, Anaheim. Mrs. Royer is a graduate nurse, having taken her early training in Swedish hospital, Seattle, Wash. She took advanced work in Cook county hospital, Chicago, where she was employed for some time.

Mr. Beery is a teacher in Empire, and his bride has been teaching in San Dimas. She attended Northwestern University and University of Washington.

Classmates Picnic

Adelle Lewis' classmates in the sixth grade at Wilson school were brought together for a pre-vacation party last week in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Lewis, 1920 West Seventeenth street.

A treasure hunt occupied the group during the early part of the evening. The grounds of the home were setting for a weiner bake which climaxed the event.

In the group were two teachers, Miss Bertha Barclay and Miss Dorothy Grist, with Adelle and Shirley Lewis and sixth grade students including Bobbie Fletcher, Leland Abraham, Mildred Gibson, June Asari, Evelyn Nakayama, Virginia York, Hershel Beard, Jessie Miles, Betty Button, Patricia Paul, Douglas Prosch, Edward Hagthorpe, Mack Miller, Rita Hollereth, Jack Weatherford.

Sewing Club Event

Club members who alternate bridge and sewing sessions were entertained last week in the home of Mrs. Chester Horton, 2475 Heliotrope Drive. This was a sewing meeting, climaxed with the serving of refreshments.

Present with the hostess were Mesdames Edward Lee Russell, Mervin Bryte, Roscoe Conklin, John L. Taylor, Newell Moore, Sheldon Russell, James Workman, John Ebersole, Aubrey Gilman, Harold Moomaw.

Three Hostesses Plan Buffet Supper for Bride-elect

Having invited Miss Ruth Frandson to be guest of honor at a buffet supper Sunday evening in the A. F. Granas home, 2404 Santiago street, the Misses Audrey Granas, Anne Wetherell and Geraldine Gilbert worked out their hospitable plans to stage a surprise personal gift shower upon that charming young fiancée of Dr. Bard Daughters, of Salinas.

Miss Frandson has been incentive for various pretty parties but this Sunday evening was especially enjoyable. The supper menu was served from a flower adorned table in the dining room, and guests sought places at small card tables, each spread with pretty linens and gay with flowers.

Gifts were placed in a decorated umbrella from which they showered in convincing fashion on the bride-elect. It was a showery affair in truth, for unknown to Miss Granas, the guests had conspired to make her a special honoree in turn. She is leaving on June 25 to take the special journalism course at Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill., which was awarded her recently on a scholarship, and her guests had aspired to provide her with handkerchiefs galore. These were daintily wrapped and placed in a suitcase bearing the legend, "Northwestern or Bust."

In the merry party with the three hostesses, the Misses Granas, Wetherell and Gilbert, and their honor guest, Miss Frandson, were the Misses LaVerne Frandson, Ruth Budd, Mary Henderson, Virginia Pritchard, Carolyn Davis, Muriel Engleke, Peggy Paxton, Betty Hammond, Barbara Speed and Ruth Greenwald.

Fifty-Fifty Club Has Dinner Dance in Culver City

California Country club in Culver City was rendezvous for Southern California Fifty-Fifty club members Saturday night when they held a formal dinner dance.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hiniker and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Redington, who had made all arrangements for the successful affair, were hosts for the evening. Flowers in vivid array decked foursome tables in the dining room, with guests seeking the main ballroom for dancing during the evening.

Joe Lindblum's orchestra provided music for the gala affair, which climaxed events of the season for the club. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Woolcott of Long Beach were introduced as new members of the organization. Mrs. Woolcott is the former Helen Young of Huntington Beach.

Guests sharing the affair with the members were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fernandez of this city.

Morning Wedding Has Setting In Episcopal Church

Episcopal Church of Messiah was setting for a quiet ceremony Monday morning, June 15 when Miss Vera T. Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Williams, 1134 South Ross street, became the bride of Noble C. Reneker, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Reneker of Yorba Linda.

Nine o'clock was the hour for the rites, read by the Rev. W. J. Hatter, rector of the church. The bride wore a dusty rose silk suit with white accessories and a corsage bouquet of white blossoms. There were no attendants.

The newly-married couple left for a honeymoon trip north, with plans to establish their home in Yorba Linda in the very near future. The bride donned a white linen suit for traveling. She is a graduate of Polytechnic high school, and a member of Sigma Beta Chi sorority. The bridegroom attended Fullerton high school.

Newly-Married Couple To Make Home Here

When Arthur Casey and his bride, the former Miss Carol House, return from their honeymoon trip, they will establish their home at 502 Orange avenue. Their wedding was a quiet event of Friday evening, June 12, in Santa Ana wedding chapel, with the Rev. Earl C. Bloss officiating. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. House, 925 West Fairview street, wore a white crepe dress trimmed in amethyst organza flowers. Her sister, Miss Jeanne House, as maid of honor, was gowned in yellow.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Casey, 1907 South Birch street, was attended by his brother, Don Casey, as best man. The little group of guests at the wedding included parents of the young couple and the bridegroom's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Casey.

Both young people are graduates of polytechnic high school, Mr. Casey having continued his studies at junior college.

SOCIETY

Mexican Songs, Dances
Give Pleasure to Park Diners

Midsummer informality as observed by Business and Professional Women's club, dictated a merry park party last night instead of the more prosaic dinner that is the customary twice a month club program. With Miss Louise Kaiser as June chairman, the committee, composed of Charlotte Bacon, Ethel Hedrick, Ella Van Benthussen and Emma Van Deusen, arranged the dinner menu served in Jack Fisher park.

Even table decorations were included and pottery bowls of pansies gave a festive air to the long picnic tables. Plans for a "home-coming" were put into effect, in compliment to the June birthday anniversary of the president, Miss Lena Thomas, with many former members appearing for the reunion. A candle-lit birthday cake was produced with the dessert course, and Miss Thomas was presented with a graceful Wedgewood tea pot, seated with her at the June table were Adelaide Cochran, Charlotte Bacon, Elizabeth Perkins, Dora Pankey, Gilbert, Effie White, Marie Fowler, Martha Whitson, Jeannette McFadden and Olivia Clark.

After-dinner entertainment had been planned by Mabel Seeds Spizzy, who presented El Trio Mexicano, composed of Senora Paul Cruz, Jose Torres and Alfred Hernandez. In their elaborately braided suits, wide sombreroes and vivid serapes, they added an effective bit of color to the scene, and a delightful interval of music. To their own guitar accompaniment, they sang such numbers as "Casa Grande," "La Cucuracha," and similar Mexican melodies, and later did some equally interesting dance numbers with guitar and vocal accompaniment. One of the trio with Mrs. Spizzy as his partner, danced El Jarabe, Rosita and La Cucuracha. Mrs. Spizzy having donned a vivid native costume for the feature.

When she leaves Friday for a six weeks' teaching course in San Francisco State College, Mrs. Spizzy will be accompanied by the trio to assist in one course of Mexican songs and dances. She will have classes also in music in rural schools and music in integrated programs.

In a business meeting which succeeded this program, the club voted to assist on Y. M. C. A. camp expenses for two lads, and also named the president, Miss Thomas, as a delegate to the regional conference to be held in Lake Tahoe this coming week end. Miss Dorothy Decker will accompany Miss Thomas north.

Among guests introduced were Miss Chloe Foster, here from Chicago with her sister, Miss Henrietta Foster; Miss Tessie H. Childers, guest of Julia Ann Hyde; Miss Gertrude Schroeder and Miss Dolores Hernandez, of Orange County General hospital staff; Mrs. C. B. Johnson of Piedmont, guest of

Formal Announcement
Of Engagement
Made Today

Formal announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Pauline Lockwood and C. A. McElderry, Jr., of San Francisco, was made today by the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Ethel Keifer Lockwood, 503 French street. The wedding will be an event of August.

Miss Lockwood is the daughter of the late Dr. Harry Martin Lockwood of Los Angeles, and with her mother came to this city a year ago to establish a home. She is associated with Mrs. Lockwood in a gift shop and loan library in the Arcade. She is a graduate of Broad Oaks school, Pasadena, and had one year at U.C.L.A. after having had her earlier schooling at Los Angeles Catholic Girls' high school.

Mr. McElderry is employed as an accountant in the U. S. government offices in San Francisco. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. C. A. McElderry, of San Marino. Dr. McElderry is a professor at the University of Southern California.

College Graduate

Miss Natalie Neff, who was graduated from the Santa Barbara State Teachers' College Friday, has returned home to spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nat Neff, 422 West Santa Clara avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Neff motored north for commencement, which was an impressive outdoor service Friday morning.

Miss Neff is a member of Delta Sigma Epsilon sorority. She enrolled at Santa Barbara college following graduation from junior college, having taken her earlier studies at Polytechnic High school.

THE TINYMITES

Story by HAL COCHRAN Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

The happy Tinies hung on tight, and Dotty said, "This crazy kite is never going to ride in air. We're dragging near the ground."

"The magic man is running fast, but not much longer can he last. I guess we're lucky, so far, that we all are safe and sound."

"Aw, just be patient for a while," replied brave Scouty, with a smile. "Our kind old friend knows what he's doing. Leave it all to him."

"He'll run and jerk until he sees us sail away upon the breeze. Then we all can wave down to him, as through the air we skim."

"You're right. Just look! We're rising now," said Dotty. "I knew he knew how to make this plan succeed. Why, he has let go of the cord."

"He is so tired he almost flopped. 'Tis well his running fast was stopped. I hope we're bound for some place that we never have explored."

The old man still was close enough to yell, "I trust your trip's not rough. I hope you have a dandy time, wherever you may go. 'Tis glad to meet you, Yes, siree. You've meant a lot of fun to me. You are the finest little tots I ever hope to know!"

And then he heard fair Dotty say, "Oh, thanks! We may come back some day. Take real good care of your kind self. We're very fond of you."

"We never will forget that we have you to thank for what we see, and we'll appreciate it, whether it is old or new."

And then the big kite rose so high, it really seemed lost in the sky. The Tinymites were so excited they just gazed around.

Two birds flew by and one cried out, "Hey, just what is this all about? What are you doing in the air? Tots should be on the ground."

(The box kite lands in a strange place in the next story.)

IN PERIL OF THE SEA

THE Archangel Michael stands highest, next to God, as the conqueror of Satan, and so his place is where the danger is greatest—high on a rock in the Bay of Saint Michel, in northern France, overlooking the immense ocean. There stands the great cathedral built 800 years ago in his honor, 235 feet above the roaring waves. It is the Archangel's "Mount in Peril of the Sea," and is considered one of the finest pieces of Norman architecture.

The Abbot Hildebert began this masterpiece to St. Michael, who was then patron saint of France, in 1020. But in 1618 the facade began to give way, and in 1796 the facade and three of the seven spans of the nave had to be pulled down, to save the rest of the church. Now, rebuilt, the cathedral retains four arches of the Abbot Hildebert's nave and some of the columns.

The famous cathedral is pictured on the 5-franc stamp issued by France in 1930.

PROGRAM HELD BY MEMBERS OF
TUSTIN UNION

TUSTIN, June 18.—Dr. James A. Dalton, superintendent of the Anti-Cigarette league of California, was the speaker at the regular meeting of the Tustin W.C.T.U. recently at the home of Mrs. William A. Hazen, McFadden street. His topic was "Anti-Narcotics."

During the business session at which the president, Mrs. Margaret R. Utt, presided, plans were made for the annual picnic to be held July 16 at Anahelm park. Mrs. Charles H. Whitney is transportation chairman and cars will leave the Tustin Presbyterian church at 10:30 o'clock that morning.

Miss Melissa Montgomery conducted the devotional period and Mrs. Kate C. Ebel read the secretary's report. Miss Lenora Marchant entertained with two piano solos, "A Japanese Sunset" and "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," played from memory.

Those present, other than Mrs. Hazen and the speaker, Dr. Walton, were Mesdames Margaret R. Utt, R. E. Farnsworth, J. O. Preble, Elizabeth Miller, Kate C.

Ebel, Laura Custer, Mary Greenwood, J. G. Kyle, W. W. Tantlinger, Mollie Smith, Bertha McMillan, Sarah M. G. Brown, W. S. Kennedy, Effie M. Crawford, Charles H. Whitney, E. H. House, Mary Adamson, Cora Torrens and the Misses Melissa Montgomery, Leona, Margaret and Marion Cus-

Following the meeting bouquets of flowers were taken to the sick and shut-in members in observance of annual Flower Mission day.

In the summer season, many new members have joined the Community players and an ambitious program is scheduled for the ensuing months.

Besides, if a man feels that the woman he loves is neglecting him he has an excuse for straying."

Today's Guest Editorial

By

E. M. Sundquist, Chairman, Community Chest

The "Guest Editor" selects his own subject matter and it may or may not agree with the opinions of the publisher. The Register will invite and publish daily a "guest editorial" by some prominent, practical Orange county citizen.

A COMMON SENSE ORGANIZATION

Among the many organizations in Santa Ana, the one which is probably the least understood and supported more half-heartedly than any other, is The Community Chest. Few Santa Anans appreciate the function of the Chest and the fine work it has been doing and is continuing to do in co-ordinating the character-building and welfare agencies of this city.

No one will deny that such institutions as the Salvation Army, the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts, the Y. M. C. A., and the Y. W. C. A., are an essential part of any community. No one would seriously suggest that their activities be curbed in whole or in part. Each works in its own field with an overlapping of function that is negligible.

It is perfectly natural to expect that of the five organizations named all of them would not have the same uniform appeal to everyone in Santa Ana. You who are reading this editorial have a favorite, or favorites, in the group, a right of choice that no one denies you. In fact, most of us would be willing to take up the cudgel to protect you in that right. In turn, we would ask that you do the same, grant us the right to make our choice. In addition, if you will assist us in the support of our favorites, we will respond in like manner and contribute of our finances to support those which have your approval. How will we do it?

Through the finest co-ordinating agency yet devised for the solicitation and disposal of funds for character-building agencies, The Community Chest. This statement is not made advisedly, for proof is found in the fact that similar organizations are to be found in most cities the size of Santa Ana and larger. It is the common sense way of raising and distributing funds for the continuance of work done by organizations vital to the community welfare, and which have to depend on public support for all or part of their income.

The Community Chest is not a charitable or welfare organization. It is not to be confused with any of the above named agencies. Its entire function is the raising and distributing of funds to its members. It co-ordinates five or six "drives" into one; it requires its member agencies to maintain themselves within a budget which is carefully checked by competent individuals before it is accepted; it enables the contributor to budget his contributions; and it places the entire transaction on a business-like basis.

The Santa Ana Community Chest should not be required to ask you for support in this program which, after all, has no selfish motive. You should volunteer your assistance, for if you are a resident of Santa Ana, you profit most from its activities.

SOCIAL-MINDED ENGINEER

Robert Ernest Doherty is president of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, and, as such, he certainly harbors no illusions about the social implications of his job.

In fact, Mr. Doherty proposes that today engineers generally be taught to regard and understand the social consequences of their work. The growth and development in technology is certain to go on apace, he believes, while the social and economic structure threatens to lag further and further behind.

Mr. Doherty has the right idea. The whole tragedy of the world depression can be traced in great measure to the very thing that he stresses—failure of the world to keep up socially and economically with its mechanical progress.

LESS POLITICS, MORE MERIT

Michigan has driven another nail into the coffin of the spoils system. The state's emergency welfare relief commission has established a state-wide merit plan for its employees.

This step follows that taken recently when Michigan's state prison board was placed in the civil service category. Other state commissions are in line for the same "reform" insofar as existing statutes permit.

All in all, here is a distinct advancement in the science of government. One only can hope that other states will swing more and more toward the merit system.

"NO MAN'S LAND"

We believe that there should be a "No Man's Land" in the United States. Roosevelt said, because the supreme court rules that the state or the federal government have not the right to pass minimum wage laws, that this is "No Man's Land," as far as the government doing anything on this subject. We believe there are some individual rights with which no government, whether it be monarchy or a pure democracy, has a right to interfere. We believe it should be "No Man's Land."

We do not believe that any government should prevent any citizen from using his energy in the production of wealth the way the individual thinks it is best for him to use it. In other words, we cannot see why there should be any law that would compel a slow worker to be paid more per unit, or piece, for doing a job than a rapid worker is willing to do the job for. If the fast workers are paid at the same rate then the total wage will exceed the total production and stop all wages if the rate is too high. If there be such a law, then the slow worker is handicapped and his personal rights are taken from him. He must either work himself at less than other people are willing to pay him or be a subject of charity of private citizens or of the government. He has the greatest right taken from him that any citizen can have—that is, the pleasure of working and accomplishing as he sees fit. While the rapid worker, who can produce rapidly, has that privilege, it is certainly class distinction of the worst kind. It not only hurts the slow worker, but it hurts the rapid worker because if the slow worker cannot produce enough to pay the wages he is to receive, he will have no employment and his sustenance must be taken from the other workers who do produce, thereby reducing their standard of living. No man will work long for any employer for less than he can make himself or some other employer will pay him.

We truly need a "No Man's Land," as far as the right of every worker is concerned to sell his energy to the world's highest bidder as the framers of the Constitution so well recognized from their practical experience in order to secure the liberty they were fighting to secure.

PROJECTS SPRINGING UP

We hear much of various projects which are to be undertaken by communities desiring to bring about better sanitation, bring into being more commodious and modern schools, more playgrounds and parks, or to add more beauty to a city—but there are unnumbered projects getting underway all over Orange county of which little is heard only in homes where boys and girls, starting a three-month vacation from classes, are busily planning projects for the summer.

To many persons these projects may seem of small importance, but to communities and to the nation at large, they are of vast import. How boys and girls spend leisure time is going to have an inestimable influence on what sort of men and women and future citizens they become.

The project may be as the case of a young girl on South Birch street, that of a commodious summer house, where the top of a long arbor has been roofed over, providing the floor for a room roofed by the green branches of an overhanging walnut tree. The girl has made bookcases of orange crates and she is proudly going forward with a rental library made up of her favorite books which she plans to rent to the neighborhood children.

A boy nearby is planning a workshop and place where he may use his poster paints and drawing materials undisturbed in the cool cement basement under his home. In former years there have been little plays given in this basement which has been swept and garnished for the occasions.

Some boys may be building boats, boats which their parents may be viewing with some sense of alarm and a fear of the craft's seaworthiness. Promises are extracted from the builders that if ever launched the owners will keep to shallow waters.

All of these activities and many more are happy and even useful ones. They are character building activities. Parents must learn to co-operate with their children in finding these happy, useful things to do. It does not take money but it does take an understanding heart.

WHAT IS THE USE OF WORKING AND ABSTAINING?

There is only one reason for not increasing old age pensions and increasing the relief of those people who have no means of support. If it were not for this one reason, the comfort, pleasure and happiness of the aged and of the unemployed would be practically unbounded. This one reason, however, has always prevented the increasing of pensions for the aged and the unemployed. There never has been any way devised so far to eliminate this one reason.

The one reason is that it causes the workers and savers to come to believe that it is foolishness, on their part, to work and sacrifice and abstain from using, if the fruits of their work and sacrifice are to be enjoyed by others; that if others are to have an equal standard of living there is no use of continuing the grind of working and abstaining from using the fruits of their work in order that it may make their work later more fruitful.

This condition, of course, of making it less attractive for people to work and save, reduces the total production and eventually compels society to take away the right of franchise, as far as the laws of taxation are concerned, from the people. It has always been the same cause that has caused democracy to fail. The great mass of people seem to believe that others will work without getting the fruits of their work.

YOUTH AT BAT

It proved ever so disappointing to the oldsters, but the "young shots" had a great deal to do and say at the Republican national convention.

For the first time in the history of the party, the young bloods were definitely organized, not only under the banner of the Young Republican Clubs, but within the merged portals of the regular party set-up. Striking in this latter group of leaders was John Hamilton, the man who made Republicans "Landon-conscious."

Such youth movement seems to be a good thing for any party, if for no other reason than that it removes a lot of smugness from politics.

The clash of old heads and new points the way to a better balance in politics,

The New French Government Moves In

Day By Day In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1935)

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The campaign ahead looks as if it may develop both a sense of proportion and a sense of humor.

Ever since the Republican convention at Cleveland adjourned, it has been a matter of considerable curiosity among political folk to know just what Chairman Jim Farley and the Democratic National Committee's publicity experts would say about the nomination of Governor Landon and the platform.

Now that Mr. Farley has spoken, it is evident that the Republicans are grateful to him for his opening blast. All last week the Republicans labored to give the country the impression that the "old guard" was out and that a new Republican party was being born. Mr. Farley now corroborates that view by saying:

"Every single Republican who had had a part in shaping party policies for the last generation was passed over in favor of a man who eighteen months ago was unheard of by 95 per cent of the American people."

The little band of progressives from Kansas who dominated the Republican convention can feel happy today that Mr. Farley accepts as a fact that the old Republicanism is dead and that a new party has been born. Not so well did the Republicans fare at the hands of Senator Norris, who sees in Governor Landon the "same old forces of reaction."

The Farley statement issued over the week-end is significant of the kind of strategy that is going to be pursued by the Democratic high command. Mr. Landon is to be accused of having been something of a New Dealer himself in the earlier days of his governorship.

To the charge that he was in favor of some New Deal policies, Mr. Landon will probably plead guilty with the engaging frankness that has characterized his attitude as governor. He will concede, as so many liberals have conceded, that the New Deal objectives were always creditable but that the administration's legislative formula for putting those objectives into effect has been a curious mixture of spoilsmanship in politics, price-fixing and virtual monopoly, as in the NRA, and a mismanagement of the finances in such a way as to endanger true liberal reforms.

Chairman Farley, on the other hand, is absolutely right when he picks out certain planks in the Republican platform that "face both ways." The experts in phrase-making that means different things to different groups wrote some of those planks over the protest of the Landon leaders. There will be smiles, however, over this sentence from Mr. Farley's comment: "The Republican party has made an accomplished art of the difficult business of facing both ways in a national election. Once again it proposes to be all things to all men."

That's precisely what the anti-New Deal critics have been saying about Mr. Roosevelt's alternate swings to the right and the left. Probably this aspect of the campaign is best illustrated by a story that is going the rounds of Washington about the campaign address of a Republican aspirant for Congress in the recent primaries in a western state. He is reported to have said:

"Now you farmers take all the money you can get from the AAA or from the federal government because, after all, it is your money, the people's money, but don't forget to vote the Republican ticket this year just to show those folks in Washington that you can't be bribed."

Unquestionably, the Landon campaign will look much more progressive than the eastern conservatives will welcome. The Republican platform contains a recognition of the demand for old age pensions and social security and federal financing of loans to the states for relief. Four years ago, the Republican party was asleep at the switch on some of the points which have been at the forefront of the New Deal administration.

Governor Landon does not want to turn his back on the worthwhile agencies of government, such as the Securities and Exchange commission, which is designed to protect the investor. But this will not prevent him from attacking the misuse of power by governmental commissions that overstep the bounds in the exercise of police power against innocent citizens.

In other words, the Republican nominee will contend that the objectives may be pious but the method of administration means everything. Likewise, he probably will contend that all the liberal objectives may be conceded but they fall to the ground if a solvent government is not maintained.

The Democratic strategy, it now appears, will be to charge that Mr. Landon is just an imitation of the New Deal and that the original, namely the Roosevelt regime, is better than the imitation. Anyway, the Democrats can hardly call Governor Landon a reactionary and be at all persuasive about it. Hence the other track, to assume that the Kansas governor is a New Dealer but that he cannot possibly accomplish his purpose with a group of reactionaries in his party bogging him down, is probably the lay of the Farley attack will shape up.

Yet when this is fully expounded, it may be found that the real issue of the campaign will center on the words picked up out of Mr. Roosevelt's remarks by Senator Steiwer in his keynote speech. It was the sentence in which President Roosevelt, in a message to Congress on March 10, 1933, said: "For three long years the federal government has been on the road to bankruptcy."

Those "three long years" of Hoover, in which Mr. Roosevelt said that a $4,000,000,000 deficit was accumulated, has now been matched by "three long years" of Roosevelt in which a deficit of $11,000,000,000 has been accumulated. And if the campaign theme songs ignore both these three year periods, the question will then turn on what is going to happen to federal finances in the next "three long years."

Little Renny's Note Book

By LEE PAPE

Pop was reading a book called Capitalism, Is It Doomed? and came in the living room saying, Willyum, it's just time for the Symfunny Orkester to go on the air, do you realize it?

I realize I want to read, pop said, and ma said, Well my lands I should think you'd want a little nice music to go with a book with any such title as that. And besides you don't read with your ears, do you? she said.

I read with my concentration, and a loud outburst of music is not going to be very helpful to my concentration, pop said, and ma said, Well my goodness who said anything about a loud outburst? I had the simple modest intention of turning the volume to a medium, soothing pitch. Does that suggest an outburst? she said.

All right, all right, for Peet sake turn it on, pop said. Which she did, being music without much tune, and pretty soon ma said, Well Willyum, I see you're still able to read.

I hear you're still able to see, pop said. And he kept on reading and after a while ma said, wait it, bewitful, Willyum?

There's reading, pop said, and ma said, That reminds me, I haven't read the new installment of Merder de Luxe, have you seen this month's Pictorial Lady anywhere around, Willyum?

No, pop said, and ma said, I wonder what could become of it, are you sure Willyum? Sure I'm sure, for Peet sake I thawt you wanted to listen to the music pop said, and ma said, So I did, so I do, and so I am. What makes you think I'm not, Willyum? she said.

I'll write you an explanatory letter from my den, pop said. Meaning where he was going to finish Capitalism, Is It Doomed?

Fullerton Union High school commencement will be held tonight in the Greek theater, built by the high school students. Twenty graduates will receive their diplomas. The Fullerton high school district has at last come to an agreement on the new high school site. The board of trustees was unanimous in decision to buy the Krug tract of 15 acres in the eastern part of the city on Chapman avenue. Approximately $100,000 will be expended on the new buildings.

W. L. Duggan, president of the school board, will award diplomas tonight to approximately 25 graduates at the annual high school commencement exercises in the high school auditorium, Miss Althea Hendrickson will be class valedictorian with "The Power of Revenge" as her theme. Miss Annis Snow will give the essay, "Modern Miracle." Miss Anne Robinson will read an original poem, "The Victory" and Miss Ruth Burns will give the class elegy. Music will include a solo by Maurice Phillips and a duet by Maurice Phillips and R. Raymond Miles.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

ADOLESCENT SENSITIVENESS

Adolescent boys and girls are very sensitive about the things that concern them closely. Their personalities are very new and consequently easily bruised. A too direct word will make them flinch and go to cover. When you feel that there is something that needs saying try to say it as indirectly, as impersonally as possible. If you say it with blunt directness you will drive the child into himself and frighten him so that he will avoid you in the future. That is why many adolescent children keep secrets that might better be told.

The first gestures toward the opposite sex are not always admirable, but be careful. Never speak directly and bluntly about the apparent interest in a particular boy or girl. Take it as you might the weather, as it comes. Know that the chances are strongly in favor of this interest's passing and another coming in its stead.

Bring in other boys and girls, including the one of strongest appeal at the time. There are more ways of killing a cat than by choking him with butter, but that is one very good way. At this time give the boy or girl some interesting books dealing with their special problems—Alice Adams, Seventeen, The Right Thing. But supply no maps with them and refrain from any other form of accent. Be casual, be calm.

Never ridicule an adolescent child because he tried to do something and did not succeed. If he tries to dance and bruises his own ankles, gets in everybody's way, it is all right with him. If he says anything you can tell him that everybody has to learn to think with his feet because up to the time he begins to dance he has used mainly his head and hands for that purpose. Take his vaga-ries good humoredly, as far as you can, and above all, don't tell him what you think too often. He will change by tomorrow and you will have to change your mind. Save the energy.

When you have to blush for some childish indiscretion or other, refrain from expressing your shame and indignation directly, and upon the heels of the offense. Wait a little. Go gently. If the child is intelligent and has been subjected to the usual forces of good breeding, he very likely knows that he made a mistake, and is suffering secretly because he made it. Don't say in tones of exasperation, "Willy did you sit down in Mrs. Oldman's chair and leave her standing in the middle of the floor like that? Haven't you any sense at all?" Likewise don't say, "If I couldn't tell a story without bailing it up and stammering and stuttering over it, I would keep still. I thought I should die while you were trying to get out that story about the Scotchman and the smoke. And Mrs. MacTavish is Scotch, if that has escaped your observation."

The only effect that sort of treatment has is to increase the adolescent's fear of his ability to manage himself in the presence of others. He must have time and plenty of encouragement in order to be at home among strangers. He must have experience in order to know true values. He must have understanding help to get over his difficulties. That help is best given tactfully, indirectly, and impersonally.

Register Clearing House

(The articles under the Clearing House are published for the purpose of an exchange of ideas and are not necessarily the opinion of this newspaper. Contributors are urged to confine their articles to 500 words.)

Editor Register:

I am very glad to answer the questions you asked me in your editorial "Compacency of Newspapers" in Friday's Register.

First, however, may I say that if "the Register had no thought of leaving the impression that educators were more complacent as to our economic and political problems than were other groups," that you certainly did leave that impression in your editorial, "Compacency of Educators." No other group was mentioned. Complacency is a grave fault in these troublous times. Every one of us should be passionately concerned about the ills of this sick world. If anyone can see a youth trudging down the highway with his bedding on his back, and not have his heart torn at the thought of what that means, there is something wrong with that individual—something lacking in his soul. To accuse an educator, who devotes his whole work to the assistance of youth, of being complacent, was to make a charge so unjust that it could not go unanswered.

You ask me to "explain how up-to-date equipment would help the student to know whom to believe as to honesty and judgment, and learn the fundamental laws of nature, and to be able to see what will happen before it does happen." It would help him to do that just as much as the linotype machine helped to make newspapers more honest, more truthful, and of greater literary excellence—the answer being, of course, not at all. Yet you would not want to go back to having your newspaper type set by hand because you know that it is good writing, not equipment, which makes a good paper. So, of course, it is good teaching, not equipment which makes for good education. However, just as an up-to-date printing plant brings more news to the people more quickly, so does up-to-date school equipment make the student's education a more vital part of the world in which he lives.

You also question my giving classes and meetings as a proof that teachers are not complacent, by stating that newspaper publishers attend many meetings which are not of a nature to make them less complacent. All I can say to that, is that the mere fact that "newspaper meetings are invariably for the purpose of advancing the interests of newspaper publishers" is no proof that teachers' meetings are for the purpose of furthering their interests. As a matter of fact, none of the classes they attend, and practically none of the organization meetings are for any such purpose. They are for the purpose of improving the teacher either by increasing his background of knowledge, or by acquainting him with progressive methods of imparting that knowledge.

To answer your remaining request to be specific in what I mean by progressive education—I mean education which advances toward better or ideal knowledge. There has been in recent years a shift in the emphasis of education from subject to individual, so that instead of talking about teaching arithmetic or spelling, one speaks of teaching the boy and the girl. This shift in emphasis has resulted in new methods of approach. For instance, the young child may be introduced to the study of arithmetic not by means of mythical problems to solve on paper with pencil, but by playing store and making change with play money. Or, later on when he enters junior high school, instead of being taught geography and history as separate subjects having nothing to do with one another, he learns them together as they are found coordinated in every day life. Still later in college physical education, instead of being taught to use Indian clubs and dumbbells he is taught those social sports in which he will have an opportunity to participate in his adult life. I could multiply these illustrations endlessly, but perhaps these three will give you an idea of what I refer to when I use the term "progressive methods."

I quite agree with you that "trying to create intelligent public opinion which would result in sound, practical, honest laws which are necessary if we are to have employment at good wages for all who desire work" is a goal to be deeply desired. I personally believe that there are two things the educators can do to help attain that goal. One is the making of economics and sociology required subjects in both high school and college. I think that if students are able to study these advanced subjects in college, they should be able to do some really constructive thinking on those problems which they can carry into intelligent action when they reach voting age. I believe also that it would be possible to create an attitude toward political affairs which would make them attractive as opportunities for patriotic service rather than as opportunities for personal advancement. Surely there is no greater service a man can give his country than that of honest, idealistic, intelligent, and courageous service in the governing of that country.

Very sincerely yours,
(Mrs. Robert) Gertrude Horn.
